City: no daycare on Main Street

Two local residents, Andrew MacKinnon and Anna Foiley, who appeared a few weeks ago before the city council to look into starting a daycare service on Main Street, met the same results last Tuesday night. They were informed that it the city two years to get its zoning ordinance in place, and the zoning code didn’t allow for a daycare. Because it is a different location, one zoned for their

They were tough enough

Loe Newnam congratulates finishers Sunday of their “Are You Tough Enough? Topi Fish Challenge” fishing tournament on Banks Lake. Organized by the Grand Coulee Area Chamber of Commerce as a way to advertise the year-round availability of taking on local lakes, the tournament at Coulee Park and Resort challenged anglers to catch three species of fish in each of two days. Predicted bad weather and rough waters combined to limit sign-ups to five boats, so those who braved the conditions all put up a good fight, winning Lars Larson at right, a 4-9-pound rainbow trout. Eric Braaten caught a 1-8-pound smallmouth bass Sunday. From left, facing Newnam, are Isabell Parish, Logan Braaten, Jim Harrington, Eric Braaten, Richard Parish, Brad Parish and Larson. — Scott Hunter photo

Ridge riders event a success

by Roger S. Lucas

The Ridge Riders, in their second annual auction and banquet, raised nearly $25,000 to support the various activities planned by the group this year.

The auction raised $10,500; contributions for Rodeo Queen Erin Wieldraayer’s activities raised $1,200; and $2,000 was raised toward a new junior rodeo.

Monty Fields, vice president of the Ridge Riders, stated that the Colorama Rodeo last year cost the group $20,000, and the bull riding events, $7,000.

He said their April 1 banquet and auction was a great success and was sold out the day the tickets came out.

Activity will begin at 10 a.m. and run until 1:30 p.m., officials stated. Organizers stated that there will be over 60 informational booths, as well as drumming and dancing.

Visitors can stay and enjoy a free hobo dog and potato salad lunch. A number of door prizes will be given out during the celebration.

A feature attraction this year will be a stream bed, contributed by the Bureau of Reclamation. Visitors can learn how important streams are to the environment.

Organizers encourage everyone to bring their recyclables and deposit them at the powwow grounds.

The Ridge Riders Recycling Program accepts:

• plastics (#1 & #2),
• paper: newspapers, magazines and cardboard,
• aluminum and steel cans (rinsed out),
• appliances,
• e-cycle items: computers, TVs, DVD players, copiers, fax machines, toner cartridges,
• used tires,
• and all types of batteries.

Tribes plans annual Earth Day event

The Colville Tribe will hold their fourth annual Earth Day celebration, Monday, April 22, at the powwow grounds near Nespelem.

Joanne Burtzantam, of the tribal recycling program, told the local Rotary Club he’s hoping for some 1,600 participants this year. They had 1,200 last year.

The Professional Disc Golf Association lists some 54 other courses in the state. The game is played in more than 40 countries, with about 3,000 courses in the United States alone, according to Wikipedia.

World champion bull rider Shane Proctor stops after the Ridge Riders auction to pose for a photo with a group of soon-to-be rodeo athletes heralded during the event as the future of rodeo. Part of the funds raised will launch a new junior rodeo. Proctor, who over the next two days put on a bull riding clinic for kids in Nespelem, is back on top of PBR standings this week. Daycare: a good cause

Well, once again the Grand Coulee City Hall’s elected of- ficials last week saw the daycare proposal as an EXTREMELY effective when it comes to building a sense of community. It is a way to bring people together, to use our space wisely, and to create a sense of belonging.

The next presentation was the Daycare proposal, which was proposed by a local citizen. The proposal included a detailed budget, a plan for the building, and an estimated number of attendees. It was presented with the intention of creating a new sense of community and providing an opportunity for people to come together and enjoy each other’s company.

The proposal was met with some resistance, as there were concerns about the cost and potential impact on the local environment. However, the presentation was well-received, and the proposal has the potential to be an effective tool in building a strong sense of community in the community.

Raider Sports this week

Raiders beat Gorillas

On a chilly, wet, windy April day the Lake Roosevelt Raider baseball team defeated the Davenport Gorillas 12-2. The Raiders scored more runs and left them all out in base paths, said Coach Piccolo and wanted to work with the bottom half of the batting order to improve production. The result at Davenport showed positive gains. “We opened the spring break practice working on getting the bottom half of the lineup of the order and it paid off, with the bottom half of the lineup delivering 6 hits, 1 run and 2 RBIs.

The Raiders have a busy week as they traveled to Grand Coulee last night for a single game starting at 4 p.m., then tomorrow LR will travel to Tonasket for their last non-league game starting at 4 p.m. The Raiders will then travel to Manson on Saturday for the season series doubleheader starting at 11 a.m. The Raiders won the first game of Manson 11-4 at home March 19.

Shane Proctor regains lead in Montana

Shane Proctor, who fell to third in the standings had actually slipped from second to third in the standings on Saturday, following Round 2 of the Stanley Make Something Great Invitational presented by Cooper Tire and the 15/15 Bucking Battle. However, a solid Sunday afternoon — including 87-5 points in the championship round — gave him all he needed to surpass reigning world champion Silvano Alves and Marreco Eguchi, who took over the lead two weeks ago in Albuquerque, N.M.

Proctor now leads Eguchi by 567-87 points and Alves by 687-96 points.

J.B. Mannie is a 1,199-62 points behind his brother-in-law. Protor, while Douglas Duncan is at 3rd in the world, trailing by 1,370-50 points.

“What’s that the FBR is all about, having good races,” Proctor said, “and it’s no fun if somebody takes over the lead and holds it for very long. “Everybody is trying their guts out.”

Top-scoring rookie Joao Ricardo

Top-scoring rookie Joao Ricardo Vieira edged out Proctor in the three-day Stanley Make Something Great Invitational with an 89-5-point ride on Yellow Jacket 3 to claim his second consecutive BFTS event win, putting him just 1,488-8 points behind Proctor.

“The real deal is going to be at the end of the year,” Proctor said, “when we see who wins it.”
