Nespelem eighth graders each get laptops

by Scott Hunter

Last Friday, eighth graders at Nespelem Elementary School gained something in common with students in far-flung school districts around the continent intent on making sure students are prepared for the future that's already here.

Each Nespelem eighth grader received a new laptop computer to use for all their school work.

While many "one-to-one" districts are opting for cheaper tablet computers (the Los Angeles Unified School District just launched a $1 billion program), the Nespelem School Board opted for the ultra-portable Apple MacBook Air, a super slim, lightweight, but fully capable laptop.

The district bought a dozen for a total price tag of $16,738.08.

Eight of those were unwrapped Friday morning by students whose eyes told an eager story.

They've been using similar technology in the classroom for years, but on desktop computers they share with others. Now, they'll each get to "personalize" their individual machines for their exclusive use in all their classes.

They listen patiently as teacher Sheri Edwards [full disclosure: she's the writer's wife] goes over the rules of use, then get busy on the computers in a scavenger hunt lesson plan she has devised to guide their explorations.

For Edwards, that's not just an introduction, it's almost a philosophy of education: Today's students will go forth from schools to find themselves in a world where they'll be expected to know how to find answers to questions that will never stop growing in number and complexity. And they'll find those answers using technology.

"This is the kind of world these kids are living in," Edwards said, explaining the school board's decision to fund the investment. "They want their kids to be globally aware, to be engaged as citizens and to be able to use and access tools like lifelong learners."

Edwards, who teaches reading and writing to sixth- through eighth-graders, already has the students using Google Apps, a suite of free, online applications used and stored in "the cloud."

Surplus items draw interest

by Roger S. Lucas

Grand Coulee's city council declared surplus a number of items from the police department at last Tuesday night's meeting.

Included were two bullet proof vests from the 1970s, a breath analyzer device referred to as "dial a drunk" by Police Chief Mel Hunt, a Polaroid camera with case, boxes of electronic items, some phone parts, and an outdated fax machine and typewriter.

But the items that caught the fancy of members of the council were two horsehide leather coats about 40 years old.

Several members of the council tried the coats on. The heavy leather jackets had all the pockets you'd expect in an old police coat.

Other items included a small file box, two police helmets, an M16 pouch (black), two gun holders, a gun guard, a master lock, a keyboard, an office chair, a display case and other assorted and old looking items.

Hunt stated that the bullet-proof vests and as some other items would not be available to the public, even though they were obsolete.

A complete list of the surplus items that are available for purchase can be accessed through the city clerk's office.

City bans marijuana businesses for six months

by Roger S. Lucas

Grand Coulee passed an ordinance last Tuesday night declaring a moratorium on any type of marijuana operations in the city.

The moratorium came after a public hearing where three residents of the city spoke supporting the issue.

Speaking against any marijuana activity in the city were Cheryl Piturachsait, Linda Black and Al Jordan. All were for the moratorium and against marijuana operations in the city.

The moratorium is for six months, effective from Tuesday's meeting, to April 1, 2014.

Residents of Washington State voted approval of Initiative 502, which purports to decriminalize the possession, use, and sale of a certain amount of cannabis by persons who are over the age of 21 for recreational or non-medical purposes.

The moratorium will provide some time for the State Liquor Control Board to develop the rules and regulations determining the number of producers, processors and retailers of cannabis by county, and other such requirements covering the provisions of the initiative.

The council had discussed developing a moratorium ordinance earlier, but it never happened.

Electric City also has passed a moratorium covering the same issues.

Firm gets 15-year contract on Lake Roosevelt

The National Park Service has awarded a 15-year concession contract to Dakota Columbia Rentals, LLC to operate at Keller Ferry and Seven Bays within Lake Roosevelt National Recreation Area.

Dakota Columbia will operate a full service marina, including houseboat and other boat rentals, moorage, retail/grocery, marine fuel and oil sales, pump-out services, and related services at the Keller Ferry and Seven Bays Marinas. The firm will also operate the Keller Ferry campground, according to a Sept. 30 press release from NPS.

Newsbriefs

Council canceled

Coulee Dam's regular council meeting, scheduled for 6 tonight (Wednesday) has been cancelled for lack of a quorum. The town's next council meeting will be held at the same time on Wednesday, Oct. 23.

Anti-freeze collection in Ephrata

Grant County Solid Waste offers a free year-round collection of used antifreeze for households at the Ephrata Landfill and the CDSI Transfer Station and Recycling center. Residents may bring up to five gallons per week during normal hours of operation. This collection is for antifreeze generated from households only. The landfill in Ephrata is open Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from Saturday from 9 to 3.

New bus in the barn

The Grand Coulee Dam School District received its newest school bus last Thursday, a 66-passenger vehicle. Cost on the new bus was around $98,000, officials stated.

New daycare opens

Coulee Dam has a new licensed day care. The day care center, at 1111 Central Drive, is run by Clarissa Cawston and is designed to take care of 12 children, from 6 months to 12 years of age.

She has named it "Coulee Kids Day Care." Cawston has designed the daycare center to be somewhat like a preschool, with educational materials including lesson plans and learning opportunities. It's an opportunity for her to exercise her education degree from Washington State University and still be home with her daughter.

Currently, Cawston says, she has six of the 12 children that her space is designed for.

Her residence on Central Drive has a large, full basement, which houses her daycare space.

Cawston's operation is licensed by the state of Washington, the Colville Tribes and she has a business license from the town of Coulee Dam.

She has her AA and bachelor degrees and Cawston has lined up one full time employee and six substitutes.

Cawston said she plans to offer a "date night" feature: on certain occasions she will let the parents bring their child to the daycare center for a couple of hours so the parents can go out for dinner. She said that this is being planned for every other Friday night.

She serves both breakfast and lunch, along with a snack during the day.

Light pole victim of sleepy driver

by Roger S. Lucas

Some people have a tough time getting to work on Monday mornings.

That was the case for Jason Mucciaccio this past Monday when he fell asleep and his pickup truck left the roadway and knocked down a power pole on SR-174, near Knute Street at North Dam Park.

Mucciaccio was driving to work at the new school building project, where he is employed by a subcontractor, when he fell asleep, he told police. His vehicle and trailer left the roadway, jumped a curb and severed the light pole.

Police said damage estimate was $5,000 to the pickup, $3,000 to the trailer, and $4,000 to the light pole.

The severed pole dropped the power line across the SR-174 roadway and disrupted traffic until Grant County PUD workmen arrived.

Mucciaccio, from Post Falls, Idaho, later continued on to the school construction job in Coulee Dam.

Dinner will benefit museum

by Roger S. Lucas

A special dinner to benefit the Coulee Pioneer Museum will be held Friday, Oct. 25, at the Senior Center.

Tickets are $10 per person or $20 for a family and are available from museum members or at the Senior Center.

Museum coordinator Birdie Hensley said the spaghetti dinner proceeds will help the museum move along in its efforts to define itself.

"It's all you can eat," Hensley stated.

The dinner is sponsored by Flo's Restaurant.

As part of the fund raiser, a quilt raffle will be held at $1 per ticket or six tickets for $5, Hensley stated.

Dinner hours are from 5-7:30. Interested parties will be able to see the work that has already gone into the museum this Thursday and Friday when it will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Hensley said the museum, at 3 Coulee Boulevard in Electric City, has a Halloween display put together by Constance Wilson, and plans a "Kennedy Doll" exhibit on Nov. 22.

Hensley said the museum wants to borrow old Christmas decorations for a display during the holiday season.

Officer on board

Grand Coulee Police Chief Mel Hunt, left, swears in Adam Florenzen, a new provisional officer. Florenzen who replaces Otto Heath who is leaving the department to take a similar position in the Boise area. Florenzen has been a patrol officer in Coulee Dam for the past two years, but was let go when the town of Coulee Dam lost its contract with the Bureau of Reclamation. The council voted last Tuesday night to allow the police department to add a provisional officer.

Kids will put on Blackbeard play

by Roger S. Lucas

Coulee Dam area school children will put on "Blackbeard the Pirate" when they perform as part of the Missoula Children's Theater on Nov. 9, according to Crystal Jones, vice president of the PTA here.

School children from kindergarten through sixth grade will be the actors. Auditions start Monday, Nov. 4, at the Center Elementary School gym.

Jones said that 50-60 kids will be involved in the play.

Representatives from the Missoula Children's Theater operation will be in the area directing the youngsters for performances on Saturday, Nov. 9.

It appears that the play will be at the Village Cinema Theater venue in Coulee Dam. The town council at Coulee Dam approved the use of the facility.

Auditions begin at 2:30 p.m. as soon as school is out, Nov. 4.

making it possible for students and their parents to reach their work from anywhere, using any connected computer.

"That's the way the world is now," she said.

Her students use a calendar, write in blogs and use presentation software.

"They are able to share what they know and interact with other people around the world," she said, noting that the class is currently involved in the Global Read Aloud Project, reading the same novel as students around the world.

Superintendent and Principal John Adkins said the school did not fund the new tools through a grant.

"The board just decided we're going to take this out of our general fund and we're going to do this," he said. "We have teachers (who) will take that and it will just become a part of their lesson plan, open us up to the big ... world out there."

Adkins said the school's small size, with an average of 12 students in a classroom and teachers willing to use the technology, can give its students an advantage.

"They'll explode with that stuff," Adkins said.

Back in the classroom, students Ryan and Patrick offer their expectations. Ryan says the new laptop will help him write better. He also knows he'll be able to check his grades and assignments online.

Patrick, working on posting a comment in a closely controlled, Facebook-like classroom social network, agrees it will help "to manage all our stuff." And he's aware that the school board "thinks that we need to be technologically up to date."

Letters to the Editor

Enough is enough!

For months and months I have followed my father's lead and taken the high road and let Mr. Wilder harass, belittle, try to discredit and tell lie after lie about him, but enough is enough. My father is my idol, and I can not remember a time in my life when he has not been doing something for the community. He has worked hard for this community and I take exception to someone who has just rejoined the community, after being gone for over 40 years, coming in and trying to undermine his efforts. If he wants to run for mayor then run on his own merits and quit bashing the opponent.

My father brought Pee Wee baseball and Babe Ruth baseball to the community. He revitalized a faltering Little League program. He and George Davis started the Raider Booster Club and Raider of the Year program, and he also helped bring about the Grand Triathlon, just to name a few things. In the years since Mr. Wilder has been back in the community what has he contributed? Well, other than the weekly ranting in the Star.

When the town of Coulee Dam was mandated to upgrade their water system, my father spent endless hours researching alternatives and resources. He traveled all over the state on his own dime looking at the options. The filtration plant was the most cost-effective option and he was able to get the resources that saved the town millions of dollars. He and the city council recently researched options for fixing the deteriorating sewer lines and again saved the town by finding a method of lining the existing lines instead of having to replace them all and got a grant to do it. My father has also written numerous letters over the years to officials, representatives and Congress, trying to find help in meeting these infrastructure regulations and unfunded mandates that are being imposed on small communities.

Mr. Wilder's harassment pretty much started when he received a notice to clean up his property, and ever since then he has had a vendetta against City Hall. He has been harassing the clerks for years and one day came into my father's office to complain about the city clerk not knowing how to do her job. He was informed that my father was sick of him harassing the clerk. He then said that made my father a coward and my dad told him to get out. He subsequently accused my father of assault and filed a report with the county prosecutor (which the prosecutor threw out). Now those of you who know my father know that this is a pretty ridiculous allegation ... my mother maybe (sorry Mom), but not my father. So after that confrontation, any time Mr. Wilder steps into City Hall a witness will be present.

Mr. Wilder recently blamed my father for the closing of the swimming pool, the theater and the bank (see Facebook "coulee dam mayor"). First of all, my father was not mayor when the swimming pool was closed and he was actually involved in several fund raising activities to try to keep it open. The decision was made, while he was on the council, that it was not feasible to reopen the pool due to the amount of work that needed to be done on the 50-plus-year-old facility. The theater closed for the same reason that most small theaters are closing; they cannot afford to update their equipment for digital movies. As far as the bank, I guess I didn't realize my father had that much power over Bank of America. Recently, both my mother and my father spent several days helping the new owner of the Melody restaurant get the restaurant ready to reopen.

I have tried for years to get my father to step down or not run for this thankless position. I always get the same response: "I care about this community and there are things that need to get done and no one else wants to do it." So for 16 years he has been going to the City Hall, almost daily and working for the community. Every day his door is open and anyone can go in and discuss whatever problem or issue they might have.

My father does not know I am writing this letter. I am writing because he has always been my number-one supporter and now it's my turn to be his. So please, Mr. Wilder, enough of the circus sideshow. No more harassment, no more lies, let the people of this community vote for change if they want, but don't discredit what my father has done for this community over the last 40-plus years. You have dragged his name through the mud enough; let's try a positive approach!

Stacy Snow

Contrasting responses insightful

I'd like to share an experience I just had. At the time of this writing it is day two of the government shutdown and I decided it was time to contact my senators and representative. Upon arriving at Senator Murray's website and the "Contact Me" icon I received a message stating that due to the shutdown she was unable to receive emails from her constituents. That was irritating. There was a phone listing for her Spokane office, so I called during normal business hours and received the same message. No one could/would receive my call or comments.

At this most critical time of government shutdown, when I would think my senator would most want & need to hear from her constituency, I received a deaf ear. Blaming the shutdown, she was unwilling to hear my thoughts.

When I attempted to contact Rep. Cathy McMorris Rodgers, I was able to send an email message with no difficulty. As an afterthought I called her Spokane office. The phone was answered immediately by a real person who was anxious to hear my views and promised to convey my thoughts to Rep. McMorris Rodgers.

I found the two contrasting responses significant.

You draw your own conclusion.

Program deserves a chance

I was sorry to see the "Liability issue puts damper on horse-kid match-ups," article in The Star Oct. 2. I believe that "The Nourishing Hand" program would and could be a great program for the kids in this area.

Animals have a great positive effect on people of all ages. This has been proven by the use of this type of programming in prisons, nursing homes, and also for troubled teens, with huge positive results, comforting the sick, the dying, the troubled, and even those that society said there was no hope for, by simply incorporating animals and the responsibility of their care into those lives.

And the abused, neglected animals, like people, also seem to recognize and appreciate being loved and cared for, also with positive effects on them.

Sure there are risks! But I believe the risk in harm is much less than the positive role it could have on so many lives. This area, like so many others, is a cesspool of drug activity, and if we can, in any way re-direct our kids from this kind of destructive activity, the results far outweigh the risks.

Society can't seem to find the answers in stopping the ruination of this country from drug use. So if this program redirects just one of so many kids heading down the wrong path, it would be the greatest thing that could happen to this area. It too could be a positive example for other communities. I can't see where giving this program a reasonable chance to succeed, with signed waivers perhaps, could get this program off and running. I hope the district will reconsider their decision. It could be well worth it!

Thank you, Chris and Jamie, for starting this worthwhile program. This can and should be looked into more, and could with other people's view on this. Keep up the good work. God Bless!

Becky Billups

Who are the peach pickers?

They are a group of local community volunteers who have volunteered to pick peaches, apples, Italian plums, apricots, tomatoes and whatever else may need to be picked.

Whatever is picked usually goes to the senior centers in Grand Coulee and Nespelem, and also to the Senior Manor in Grand Coulee. Also, items are delivered to homebound elderly senior citizens in the Grand Coulee Dam area.

Yes, the pickers do sample the products as we would never give out a product that we would not eat ourselves!

A big thank you goes out to all of the citizens who have donated to this project!

Miguel up at the La Presa Restaurant donated peaches, plums and tangerines; Bill and Mary Tylor a tree full of plums; John and Sherry Dazelle also donated plums; Chuck and Millie Goodall and John and Bobbie Klobucher donated cherry tomatoes.

If any local citizens have fruit or veggies to donate, give us a call at 633-2579 and we will try to get the job done, depending on the time the volunteers have at that time.

Thanks a bunch goes out to the following volunteers: Irvin Williamson, Rodney Bise, Earl Cole, Justin Carnahan, Kathy Jagaman, Jim Jagaman, Gary Haven.

A thank you also to Frank and Ora Christman who delivered items up to the Nespelem Seniors.

Thanks a bunch goes out to Harvest Foods in Coulee Dam and also Safeway Food and Drug in Grand Coulee for saving the flat boxes to put the picked fruit into.

There are a lot of good volunteers in the Grand Coulee Dam area and we are all fortunate to have them here.

When was the last time that you said "thank you" or keep up the good work to a volunteer?

A "thank you" doesn't cost anything and it would mean a lot to a person, not that it is expected by any volunteer.

I'm sorry if I missed naming a volunteer who helped out or a person who donated, as age is creeping on me and my memory isn't like it used to be.

Thanks a bunch to all of our area volunteers!

Just a helper
Jerry Beierman

Health screenings made preventive health approach possible

My husband and I thoroughly agree with Sheryl Moore's letter in last week's newspaper concerning the discontinuing of the annual Health Screening labs sponsored by the local hospital during National Hospital Week each May.

We centered our medical care around the annual screening, and the only prescription I take is for a condition discovered by Chris Seyler, PAC, from lab results many years ago. I don't know how long it would have taken to be diagnosed had it not been for the annual screening. Because of Medicare and our private insurance, we pay nothing out of pocket for our care, but neither of us wants Medicare billed for exorbitantly expensive procedures unnecessarily. We've been more careful about going to the clinic for any kind of immunization since learning Safeway Pharmacy gives the same service at a much lower cost, and our daughter who works in health care in Arizona tells us this is the case, as well, with the clinic where she is employed. They tell their patients they can get immunizations for much less at pharmacies, and recommend that they go there.

We learned this by experience, and discussed the issue with Coulee Medical Clinic billing personnel and won't make the same mistake again. As I said, we didn't have to pay this, but Medicare did, and we both feel we would rather not have Medicare billed to the max for things we can do for much less with another provider.

We are so pleased with our primary care physicians at Coulee Medical Center and we are grateful for such an excellent hospital right in our own community, but I feel the decision makers made a big mistake in eliminating what they say was a service that was against the law. I know of two other hospitals who still offer the reduced cost health screening labs, so I know there has to be more to it than that. Until the annual labs take place again, we'll be doing as-needed medical care, not the preventive approach we took previously.

Gems in the Coulee - Mikey Williams

The Raider sports is in full swing at Lake Roosevelt, and for one person football season is his time to work. He is at every practice, every game (home and away), every meeting, he even checks in on the athletic director from time to time to make sure he is doing his job. You might have gone to a home football game and seen him, or you might have run into him in the store as he is hugging someone and giving an enthusiastic smile with a "Hey Buddy." You might have got a look at him working at The Star newspaper too. He is known by only his first name to most — Mikey. This is about him, a Gem in our community.

"Mikey is a one of a kind" said Lake Roosevelt football's Head Coach Steve Files. "He has more enthusiasm and love for the Raiders than anyone on the team. ... He is a big part of football here."

Just ask anyone at the Seattle Lutheran game, where the Raiders won in a blowout game. "Mikey wore himself out doing touchdown dances on every score and every big play," Files told me as he remembered what his brother had told him after the game.

Every referee knows Mikey, (who is officially the manager/ball boy for the Raiders, although he tells the players he is Coach Williams), every head coach, every cheerleader and most players throughout the league. There are even some Oregon Ducks that know him personally. Mikey's brother, the late Rob Williams, played there and is in their Hall of Fame.

"I think Mikey associates football with his brother," Files said with a little emotion in his voice. Rob was a coach here at LR when he passed away a few years ago. Mikey looked up to Rob, but that is an understatement.

Athletic Director Rich Black said Mikey brings a special element to football games; every student knows him and loves him. "His heart is invested here at LR, and we love him," Black added.

Mikey graduated in 2006 from Lake Roosevelt but he was there on the first day of school this year anyway. He was there greeting all his friends, welcoming them back to school and asking for the names of the people he didn't know. They are now his friends, too.

But football is where he excels, and that is his passion. He is detail oriented, says Black.

"He knows if something on the field is set up wrong, or if the score board is showing the wrong score or quarter," Black says. "He even reads every program to make sure everything is spelled right and no one's name was missed, especially his own."

He doesn't miss anything either, as I learned the hard way recently. I have been the voice of the Raiders for a while now, and I am kind of known for giving the players nicknames. Well Mikey pulled me aside recently and told me what he wanted his nickname to be, and he made sure I wrote it down and spelled it right. But you will have to come to the game to hear it.

Austin Rosenbaum, Trey Nicholson and Nathaniel Hall, like a lot of Raider footballers past and present, have seen the spirit of Mikey, too, and have been touched.

"He gets you pumped up and excited to play football," said the freshman Hall. Junior Rosenbaum added, "He brings a lot of spirit to the field every time he gets near it." Trey summed it up perfectly: "He is the backbone of the team." Powerful words for the Raider ball boy. "Oh yeah," Trey explained. "Without him, none of us would have balls," and a smile came across all the boys' faces.

Black and Files were a little more serious with their closing words about Mikey.

"Mikey is more a part of LRHS than most all of us here are," Black expressed with every bit of seriousness in his eyes. Files words were just honoring. "Mikey is just as much a part of Raider football as the LR on the side of the helmet." Wow, big words from the two leaders in Raider football. But I know those words are true.

Mikey is my friend. He always asks me about my "hot" wife and our kids. I was friends with Rob and I know how close they were. Rob was pretty much Mikey's world and I know he is never far from Mikey's thoughts when he is on a football field. One way I like to look at it is, God may have had to take Rob from Mikey, but he gave him a never-ending list of football players that will keep coming and coming and becoming brothers on the field.

Mikey is the heart of Raider football, and LRHS for that matter, and I look forward to every game watching him lift his hands to the night sky and shouting out his brother's name. I also look forward to seeing a lot more touchdown dances. Thank you Mikey, for just being you.

Jess,
shut up!

Jeanne McKay Motsenbocker October 3, 1954 – October 4, 2013

Jeanne McKay Motsenbocker passed into the arms of her Heavenly Father surrounded by her loving family on October 4, 2013, following a courageous three-year battle with ovarian cancer. Jeanne was born October 3, 1954, to Phillip and Patricia McKay of Grand Coulee, Wash., and spent her formative years on the family wheat and cattle farm northwest of town. Jeanne attended school in Grand Coulee from kindergarten through high school and graduated from Lake Roosevelt High School in 1972. She was active in school government, a cheerleader, and homecoming queen. Following her high school graduation, Jeanne attended Washington State University and graduated from the Intercollegiate College of Nursing with a BSN in 1977.

Jeanne moved to Denver, Colorado the summer of 1977 and accepted her first nursing position at St. Luke's Hospital. She later relocated to Cody, Wyoming, where she worked as a home health nurse riding her Honda 350 motorcycle to patients' homes in the rural countryside. While living in Cody, Jeanne began training to bicycle across the country in support of the March of Dimes and completed the ride alone from Everett, Wash., to Boston in less than two-months. Longing to work in emergency nursing Jeanne moved to Wenatchee, Wash., in 1981 and began working at Central Washington Hospital in the emergency room. She earned her ALS and CEN certifications at CWH and always felt ER nursing was a natural fit for her.

While in Wenatchee, she met her husband Bill Motsenbocker and they were married in June of 1983. The couple had just celebrated their 30-year anniversary in June. Bill and Jeanne made their home in Wenatchee where Jeanne continued as a part time nurse in the ER and Bill worked as a middle school teacher/coach at Pioneer and Orchard Middle Schools. Bill and Jeanne had two beautiful children, Tyson and Jaimie, who were the light of her world. Jeanne maintained a commitment of being a stay-at-home mom through their middle school years.

Jeanne and Bill accepted a calling to serve as short-term medical missionaries in central Haiti in 1991 through the Free Methodist Church. They served for one-year with the Dessalines Rural Health Project in the Artibonite Valley where Jeanne assisted in the lab testing AIDS patients while Bill served as the hospital administrator. The Haitian government was overthrown by the military while they were there and as a result, the missionary staff was required to leave the country. The family finished their term abroad serving in the Dominican Republic.

The family later moved to Prosser, Wash., where Bill accepted an administrative position at Housel Middle School. Jeanne began the process of earning a masters degree in counseling from Liberty University with the desire to open her own private practice counseling office following licensure in Washington State. Jeanne opened her first office in Pullman where the family had relocated in 1995 after Bill became the principal at Lincoln Middle School. She specialized in individual trauma counseling and couples therapy. She always had a waiting list of people trying to become clients and became an authority in EMDR and several marriage therapies. Jeanne authored two books on understanding bonds in marriage and facilitated prayer. Her success as a counselor, especially with couples, was remarkable. Later in her career she provided staff development training on several occasions for counselors at The Well in Chang Mai, Thailand.

In 2007 Jeanne and Bill moved to Spangle, Wash., where Bill accepted a position as Superintendent/K-8 Principal for the Liberty School District. Jeanne continued her counseling practice with an office in Spokane until her cancer diagnosis in 2010.

Jeanne loved international travel and has visited every continent excluding Antarctica and Africa. Following her diagnosis, she managed to travel to Mexico twice, the United Kingdom, Ireland, New Zealand, Chile, and Argentina. She always was thinking of the next country she wanted to visit and was disappointed she never made it to Africa. Jeanne was also an excellent endurance athlete, completing two marathons including a 9th place division finish in the Emerald City Marathon in Seattle. Even throughout her battle with cancer, she was an avid cyclist completing several rides of over 50 miles.

In addition to her husband Bill, Jeanne is survived by her children; Tyson of Solana Beach, Calif., and Jaimie of Spokane. Others include sisters Mary White of Spokane and Janet Wilson (Mike) of Okanogan, and one brother Kelly of Almira. She was preceded in death by her parents Phillip and Patricia McKay.

The family wishes to express a heartfelt "thank you" to Dr. Grossen, Dr. Holbrook, Gina, Mary, and Stephanie of Cancer Care Northwest, the amazing and talented nursing staff at Sacred Heart 5 South, and the blessings received from the staff at Hospice House of Spokane.

A celebration of Jeanne's life will take place at Liberty High School, E. 6404 Spangle-Waverly Rd., Spangle, Saturday, Oct. 12, at 2p.m.

In lieu of flowers, Jeanne had requested that friends donate to Haiti Healthcare Advocates, PO Box 580, Spring Arbor, MI 49283-

That's one big pumpkin!

Bill Niendam of Elmer City shows off what he calls his "300 pound pumpkin." He and his wife Dusty raised a single pumpkin in their garden on Front Street. He said the pumpkin vine had a number of blooms but only one pumpkin. "We used a giant pumpkin seed for this one," he said. It doesn't look like he will move the pumpkin. "We would need a lift truck to get it out of here," he stated. (Roger S. Lucas photo)

Raiders lose to Kittitas in league opener

By John R. McNeil II

Lake Roosevelt's three-game winning streak came to an end last Friday as the Raiders lost to the Kittitas Coyotes 24-14 in their Central Washington 2B League opener at Greene Field.

"We had our moments against Kittitas," Raider Head Coach Steve Files said, "but I know we are capable of better performance. ... They simply outplayed us."

The Raiders rushed for 171 yards, with Jesse Louie gaining 114 of them. Josiah Desautel ran for 49 yards against Kittitas. Quarterback Chance Garvin connected with his receivers for 51 yards passing. Austin Rosenbaum did not play again due to an injury he sustained in the Bridgeport game Sept. 20.

The Raiders did not start aggressively in the first quarter, and the defense came alive only later in the game.

"For the last three quarters, I thought our defense played pretty well," Files said.

The main problem for the defense was the Coyotes' speed. Still, Files said he was pleased with the Raider defense's ability to make the Coyotes turn over the ball.

Offensively, the Raiders were sluggish to start, but picked up later. "We became more aggressive as the game progressed, but we did not start well."

When asked what changes need to be made to be more successful on offense in the future, Files stated, "No matter who we play, success on offense will hinge on how well we handle the ball and execute the fundamentals of our attack."

LR looks to get back on track this week as they take on the Raiders this Friday for a 7 p.m. game at Manson.

The Trojans come into the contest 0-4 with losses to Brewster, Darrington, Liberty Bell, and Oroville. The Trojans have managed to score only 26 points this season, but have allowed 207 points against them.

Josh Harris bats away a pass intended for a Coyote receiver.

Jess, Hansen champion ropers again in Coeur d'Alene

Garrett Jess did it again. He and his partner, Clayton Hansen, won the roping title last weekend at the Pro-West Rodeo Association finals in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

The previous week Jess and Hansen won at Prineville, Ore. and were named NPRA "Ropers of the Year."

In Coeur d'Alene the pair placed in both go rounds. Their average of 8.5 seconds gave them the title there and the $3,600 purse, which was split between the two.

This weekend Jess and Hansen are off to Nampa, Idaho for the Idaho Cowboys Association rodeo, where they will have a couple of go rounds in their search for the prize money.

Cross country races at Can Am

by John R. McNeil II

After a week off, Raider cross country returned to the races at Colville High School for the 2013 Can Am race Oct. 5.

Normally the race is held in Kettle Falls at the National Park Service's Lake Roosevelt National Recreation Area, but with the government shutdown, the race had to be moved to Colville High School.

Head Coach Gary Darnold said that, unlike in football, the bye week is not an advantage in cross country.

"Having an extra week does not help our runners as we did not have a race last Saturday," Darnold explained, and that race "can be, and usually is, very good for overall training for the post season."

In the varsity race, the Raider boys were led by both Dominick Cotton and Ray Yazzie who tied for 42nd with a time of 19 minutes, 44 seconds. Coltin Williams came in third for LR, finishing 51st in 20:03, a personal record of over two and a half minutes.

Robert George came in fourth for the Raiders and 60th overall in 20:30, George's 5,000-meter PR time. Daniel Campobasso finished fifth for the squad and 77th overall with the time of 22:04, which is 52 seconds faster than his previous 5,000-meter PR.

Coach Darnold noted the boys' squad was working hard in practice to keep their 1-5 time split under two and a half minutes while seeing all runners steadily improve.

Zach Erickson was the sixth Raider across the finish line, placing 81st overall at 23:54.

In the JV race, freshmen Will Friedlander and Chase Waters ran their first-ever cross country race at Coville. Friedlander finished 49th in 24:44. Waters came in at 28:07 for 57th.

In the girls' race, the Raiders had only two runners, Ashley Palmer and Clare Castrodale. Palmer finished 30th overall in 23:32, impressing Coach Darnold.

"Ashley Palmer was our top girl runner, running in her first high school meet, placing in the middle of a large girls' field," he said.

Castrodale finished 50th in 27:38, her all time 5,000-meter PR.

The Raiders will compete in their only two-contest week this week. Yesterday LR ran at the Omak Invitational held at the East Side Park, and will travel Saturday to the Quincy Invite at Quincy High School. This race was added to their schedule as the Raiders were forced to cancel their home race due to the construction of the new school.

Lady Raiders lose to Fillies, beat Trojans

by John R. McNeil II

The Lady Raiders split last week's matches at home against the Fillies of Bridgeport and the Manson Trojans.

Against the Fillies, the Lady Raiders were out of sync and the Fillies played hard, aggressive volleyball in a match sweep of the Lady Raiders.

Brianna Goggles-Whalawitsa led the squad in serving for the night, scoring 11 points.

"She made a difference with her serving," commented Head Coach Nate Piturachsattit.

The coach noted that, although the team served with 91-percent success in the game, only two of their serves were aces and the team recorded only 10 kills for the night.

"It's hard to win a game when you can't put pressure on a tough team," he said.

Those stats flipped Thursday as LR recovered for the second match of the week, taking advantage of Trojan mistakes to score points, which led to a 3-1 victory.

With 77-percent serving in the match, LR delivered 19 aces. Add 23 kills and five blocks for the contrast that made the difference.

Holly Jo Carriere recorded six service aces against the Trojans. Kayley Duclos added four more aces for the Lady Raiders. And Cheyenne Kelly-Marconi contributed eight kills and three blocks against Manson.

LR is on the road this week, traveling to Liberty Bell tomorrow and to Pateros on Saturday. Liberty Bell's win-loss stands at 5-2, with wins over Tonasket and Oroville.

"We need to continue to serve strong if we are going to win against Liberty Bell on Thursday," Piturachsattit said. And a little change up in defense won't hurt either.

The Mountain Lions lost 3-2 to the Fillies Oct 3, and were swept by the unbeaten Nannies of Pateros Sept. 28.

The match at Liberty Bell starts at 5 p.m. at Liberty Bell High School. Saturday, at Pateros High School, the match starts at 11 a.m.

Coulee Cops

Compiled from police files

Grand Coulee Police

9/30 - A Keller woman was pulled over for not using her directional signals while turning and the officer found that her driver's license and registration had expired. She was cited on both counts.

- USBR Plant Protection advised police that a delivery truck had set an oil can next to the gate shack. The officer found a quart can of oil with a delivery slip under it. A Plant Protection officer said to leave the can where it was found.

10/1 - A Coulee Dam woman was stopped for not wearing a seatbelt and she told the officer that she wore her seatbelt under her arm because of a medical condition. The officer asked if she had a note from her doctor or a letter from the Department of Licensing. The woman was unable to produce an insurance card and was cited for that and warned on the seatbelt violation.

- An Electric City woman was pulled over and cited for not wearing her seat belt. The officer's report stated that he viewed the woman twice and she wasn't wearing her seat belt either time. When stopped, the woman said she had her seat belt on.

- A boy, 11, on Fortuyn Road told an officer that some other boys had threatened to shoot him with a bb gun. The officer talked with the boys in question and they all had toy guns. The officer admonished them not to point even toy guns at other people.

10/2 - A Nespelem man was cited for unsafe backing and not having insurance after his vehicle hit one behind him at the corner of Kimball Street and Midway. The driver said he didn't see the vehicle behind him.

- An Electric City man on Electric Boulevard told police that a woman had left his residence naked except for a pair of panties. He said he gave the woman a blanket to wear. Police were unable to find the woman.

10/3 - Later the next day, police stopped a man to ask him about the near-naked woman and found that he was wanted on a felony warrant. He was arrested and taken to Grant County Jail.

- An officer received a call from a place on Main Street that a cooler that smelled like marijuana had been left in front of the door. Police opened the container and found a prescription bottle with a name on it, and a driver's license and a glass pipe.

10/4 - A patrol officer replaced a barricade to Crescent Bay after he found it had been moved back. While backing around, the officer's patrol car sunk into soft gravel and hit a rock causing minor damage.

- Two students were suspended from the middle school for three days for fighting on the volleyball bus. An officer was called to the school to investigate.

- A Wilbur man came in to the police department to see if anyone had reported a vehicle accident. He said he was involved with another vehicle and had left information at the site and wondered if it had been reported yet.

- A woman was stopped because her passenger wasn't wearing his seatbelt. The driver couldn't provide proof of insurance or a registration for the vehicle. Both were cited.

- Police stopped a man who was pulling a three-wheeled cycle up 2nd Street. The officer knew that the man was wanted on a felony warrant. While talking with the man the officer noticed him throwing a small black bag on the ground. When the officer retrieved the bag he found it to contain multiple small bags with a crystal substance inside. The man was arrested on the warrant and taken to jail. The bag and contents were sent to the Washington State Patrol crime lab for analysis.

10/5 - A driver struck another vehicle while trying to back into a parking space at Safeway. She entered the store to find the driver of the vehicle she struck.

- A man who had been hunting in the Osborne Bay area told police that he found a backpack and a woman's boot. They were kept for later identification.

- Police were informed by a man that he thought his nephew had taken some of his prescription medicine. The nephew was contacted by police and said that he had taken most of it back, and then refused to talk further with the officer.

- A Bonney Lake man was stopped for going 20 mph over the speed limit and was later cited for not having insurance. He got a warning on the speeding infraction.

10/6 - A man reported what he thought was a broken water main on Martin Road. The officer observed that sewer effluent was coming up out of the ground and notified city workers.

- A woman was stopped on Midway for not wearing her seatbelt and received a citation for this and for not having insurance.

- Three juveniles riding a four-wheeler and a motorcycle up and down the streets were stopped by an officer on Batchelor's Square, where they were trying to hide. Parents came to take charge of the boys.

Coulee Dam Police

10/1 - An employee of Harvest Foods witnessed a woman shove some pork chops in her purse. The woman was kept in the store until police arrived. The woman said she attempted to steal the pork chops to give her children a good meal. Police are sending the report to the prosecutor's office for action.

10/2 - Police stopped a vehicle at River Drive and Roosevelt Way because of a faulty headlamp. After confirming a Grant County warrant, the officer arrested a passenger and took him to jail.

Shopping and junking in the coulee

by Frankie Delano

Do you think the holiday shopping season is already nipping at our heels? Absolutely! So if you haven't snagged any Halloween costumes, there's still time to find a bargain or two, either locally or by driving out of the Coulee to one of the "big towns." With the price of gas these days, shopping locally is a smart choice.

And guess what? Some absolutely great costumes, treat buckets, candles, lights, and nicknacks, scary critters and even makeup have been waiting for the right buyers at our local yard sales in the Coulee. Recently the ladies at the Grand Coulee Senior Center loaded up a couple of tables and racks with some great Halloween stuff featuring really scary and cute costumes for the younger set.

Back to the holiday shopping season. If you need specific items, such as the latest toys and gadgets, you just about have to get on the shopping treadmill early, I mean, right away. But then again, ask a yardy (yard sale shopper) or junky (junk sale shopper) what to do about finding bargains and we'll respond with the our credo: Shop local, shop yard sales, shop estate sales, shop junk sales.

And very shortly, within a few weeks, we'll have some bazaars and special fall/holiday sales underway. Oh my gosh! Take a moment and ponder this: Lucky us, we'll have access to lots of stuff, eatable treats and goodies available right here in the Coulee when the holiday sales roll by.

This past Saturday was a fabulous day for racing around early, to access what we shoppers think is available during the first picking at the sales before everybody else shows up and buys it. I'm talking about the good stuff.

You'll hear this reference to items up for sale, over and over, and if you go to several sale sites in one day, you'll hear the yardys remark that all of the good stuff was gone before they got there. So, the phrase, good stuff, takes on a special meaning, often repeated in hushed tones or a whisper. It's like, be there when a sale opens to go through everything or you'll miss out and only get to buy what's left.

Well, there was plenty of good stuff at the sales held in Grand Coulee with an assortment of toys and children's clothing at an apartment sale for one, with a grand sale going in Connie's front yard near The Star's office. One lucky lady bought a fine piece of antique furniture at a breathtaking bargain price. She scored an oak roll top desk with the roll top in fine working order for $350. Detective Frankie D. happened to be on site when the desk was being loaded up and witnessed this impressive purchase. What can I say? Great deals.

Hundreds of other great items were looking for new homes at Connie's sale where D.F.D. found something old and funky to take home -- an old metal trunk, the kind that came across America on the back of prairie schooners. Just so you know, this trunk has been around a long, long time and qualifies as funky and junky due to some rust on its metal hinges. I'm guessing it was originally a bride's chest and filled with neat linens and other things for a bride's new home out West. The chest's lining is covered with thin paper similar to wallpaper and still intact with some moldy areas. What will D.F.D. do with it? Because it's not too big, I'll put it out on display in a hallway and during the holiday season, I'll put some pine boughs in it.

Time to move on. See you out and about. We've still got some sales to keep us happily shopping this weekend. Let's hope the wind and rain go elsewhere.
