Advance tickets for Colorama Rodeo

Advance tickets for the Colorama Rodeo and Cleatis Lacey Memorial Bull Ride, May 11, 12 and 13, are now on sale at Loepp Furniture in Grand Coulee.

You can purchase an advance daily pass for Friday night or Saturday for $5 for children or $8 for adults, or the Sunday bull ride for $10.

This year they have what they call the “Event Pass” with is $25 for all three days.

Action begins at 5:30 on Friday, continues Saturday at 2 p.m. and the special Cleatis Lacy Memorial Bull Ride takes off at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Officials said $2,000 has been added to the purse for Sunday’s bull riding event.

Members of the Lacey family will be present to award the bull riding winner with prize money and the championship belt buckle.

The late Cleatis Lacey, of Grand Coulee, was well known throughout rodeo circles as a competitor

New roof

Coulee Dam’s town council voted last Wednesday night to replace the roof on town hall.

The bid, one of four, was won by local contractor DWK Fowler Construction.

Fowler’s bid of $60,312, was the lowest bid. The next lowest bid was $84,006 by Claw Construction.

Public Works Director Barry Peacock told the council that the bid materials involved in the Fowler bid met specifications and he recommended acceptance of that bid. The council quickly agreed.

Police officials have long complained about their corner of the town hall building leaking.

Clarification

A statement attributed in a story last week to Greg Wilder at an Elmer City Council meeting that the Coulee Dam wastewater treatment upgrade could cost the community $8 million to $12 million was not refering to project costs alone, but included potential costs to the local economy, including loss of spendable income that would be redirected to paying for the project, rather than spent on other services in the community.

McMillan & Layton will again provide rodeo stock this year with Mark McMillan doing his trick riding program.

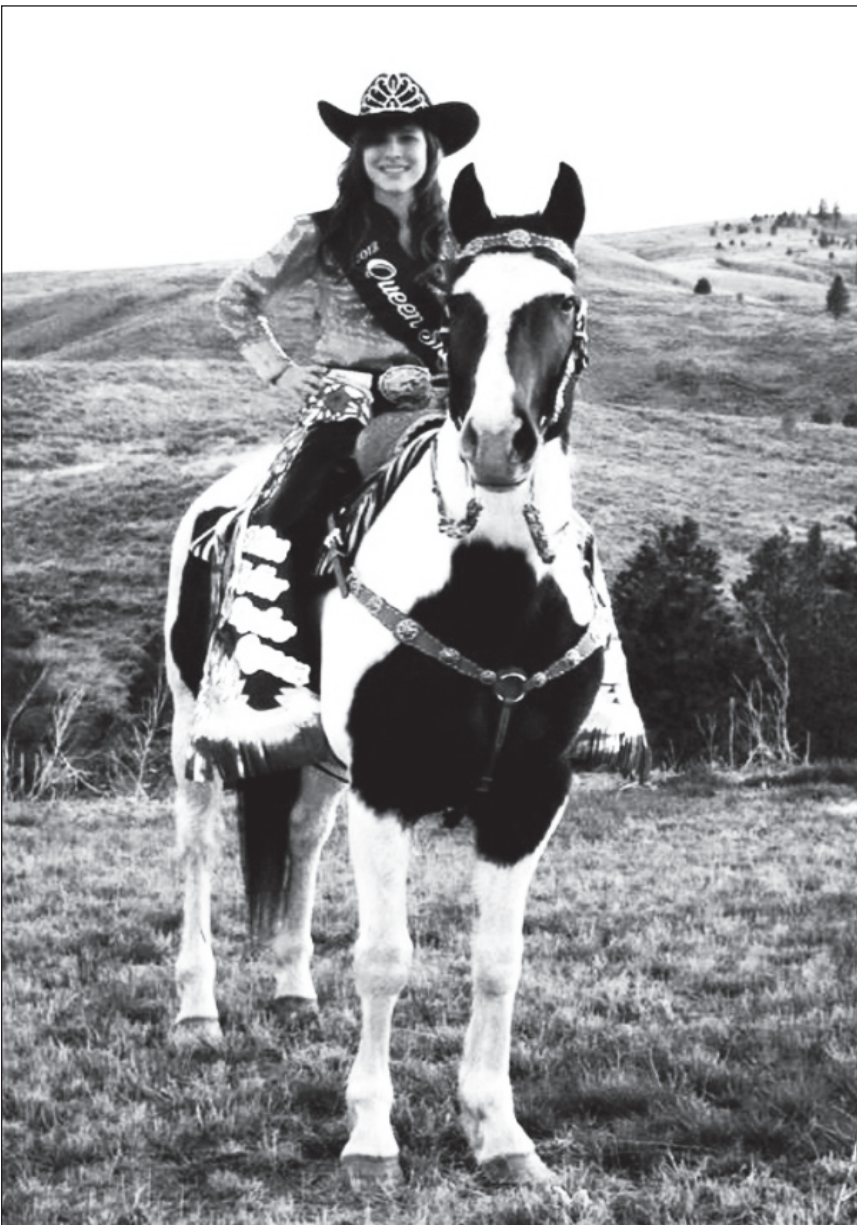

Rodeo announcer will be Bob Garrett from Stratford.

Rodeo Queen Caelan Pitts will reign over the three-day program and represent the community and Ridge Riders throughout the year.

The Ridge Riders, the sponsoring group, stated that registration for the bull ride is $100; for the Mutton Busting, for 5-year olds or younger is $15 and for Steer Riding, for 14 years and under, is $25.

A new $6,000 lighting project has been completed and fans can enjoy a better lighted arena.

There will even be stick horse races for the younger set and a playhouse, built by DWK Fowler Construction, will be given away in a drawing.

Duclos picked for Keller queen

Shay Duclos will serve as the queen of the 2012 Keller Junior Rodeo May 5-6 in Keller. A Lake Roosevelt freshman, Duclos is a barrel racer, involved in rodeo for the last three years. She was chosen in tryouts earlier based on attributes including horsemanship and speaking ability. A champion in last year’s events, she is the daughter of Keever and Jeanie Duclos, of Coulee Dam, and Joan and Jim Phillips, of Elmer City. — submitted photo

Want to get involved?

As Colorama approaches, the race company that wants to keep alive the Over the Dam Run is still in need of volunteers.

Volunteers help with race registration, hand out water to passing runners, staff the finish line and more.

Trifreaks, the same company that puts on the Grand Columbian Triathlon in September, took up the cause of the longtime local tradition that lets runners cross one of the most spectacular structures in North America, Grand Coulee Dam.

At the same time, they wanted to make the race a part of the community’s longest-running festival, Colorama, placing the finish line near the festivities at North Dam Park.

Owner Stefan Newbury said the company made no money on the race last year, but hopes to as the race rebuilds in popularity.

Newbury said that the race could use 15 volunteers and interested parties could do so by going to the firm’s website, Trifreaks.com and clicking on the appropriate spot.

Persons can also register to take part in the half-marathon and other categories in the race by accessing on the same website. Registration forms are also available at the Chamber of Commerce office in Grand Coulee.

For other specific information, you can call Melissa at 253-245-9240.

Another added feature of the “Over the Dam Run” is a walk sponsored by the Rotary Club.

This year is sort of a celebration, a Rotary officer stated, since funding for the school has been received.

The Rotary Club has been specifically raising funds for the new school for the past two years.

Cost of the walk is $15. People can register for the walk online at Trifreaks.com, or get registration forms from Investment Services Northwest, Foisy & Kennedy, The Star Newspaper, and the Chamber of Commerce office

The T-shirts this year will read: “Walking the Dam, Building the School.” When you pay your registration fee of $15, you will receive a T-shirt.

OPINION

Letters From Our Readers

Thanks for keeping the new-school dream alive

We would like to thank Superintendent Dennis Carlson, along with past superintendents, and School Board Members past and present, for their undaunted efforts to secure funding for new school facilities. Because of your continued commitment, and your refusal to accept defeat, you have been successful in fulfilling a dream for our community.

The dream of new schools in the Grand Coulee Dam School District began nearly 20 years ago. When I was teaching, I was on several committees throughout the years, under the leadership of a variety of superintendents, working on the preliminary aspects of securing funding for new facilities. Obtaining funding for new schools is a very long, arduous process for any school district, and with our unique situation, it is even more complicated. It has taken years of gathering information, filling out mountains of paperwork, doing countless demographic studies, needs assessments and justifications, along with continuing to be the squeaky wheel in Olympia and Washington, D.C. But, because the dream was never extinguished, all of that hard work has paid off for the children of our community.

Viewing the architect's drawings on the Design West website is awesome! To see the dream becoming a reality, even if it's only on paper at this point, is so exciting! We are thrilled for our grandkids, knowing that they will be able to attend beautiful, modern, safe schools, which will make their educational experience much more enjoyable, meaningful, and exciting. The students of the Grand Coulee Dam School District will be able to get the education that they deserve. This is a huge advantage in preparing our children for the opportunities and challenges of the 21st Century.

Of course, we realize that new school buildings will not solve all the problems facing our school district, or any school district, but is a huge step in the right direction. Having a beautiful new facility, with state-of-the-art classrooms, computer labs, and science labs, with efficient heating and air-conditioning systems, proper lighting, a cafeteria for all students, along with being able to use personnel and facilities more efficiently, will help tremendously. Just as our new hospital has brought much pride and enrichment to our entire community, new school facilities will do the same. They will improve the image of our schools, and give students, faculty, parents, and our entire community a renewed sense of pride and enthusiasm about education.

Again, thank you for keeping the dream alive, and ultimately turning the dream into a reality.

A Tale of Two Cities

No, not a story of two late 16th century cities facing good and bad times, but rather a more contemporary story of another Dickens metaphor... one of belief and one of incredulity. The cities – Elmer City and Coulee Dam. The time – the last quarter of the 20th century.

I'm not typically prone to conspiracy theories nor elaborate exaggerations. And with that said, I'm going to unwind a story for you based upon real records, real events, and very real agreements. A story defined by a 1975 partnership contract between the town of Coulee Dam and the town of Elmer City. A story steeped in conspiracy and one that reads like every nuance must be exaggerated for theatrical effect. A good novel, if you will. But, and alas, the exaggerations are actually very real, and as for a conspiracy – the odds are growing!

Not long ago, the town of Coulee Dam decided, with little advanced notice to its “partner,” Elmer City, or the broader impacted community (including the Bureau of Reclamation and the Colville Tribe), that it would begin the process of defining a future that would impact the region in a financially crippling way. They tasked their engineer with preparing a Wastewater Facilities Plan that the very same engineer recommended they prepare. Confused yet? Oh, it gets better! The town then decided to pay this same engineer $1,251,500 for services related to the facility they had recommended in the plan they prepared for the town based upon the engineer's recommendation. Whew, now I'm confused! And to add further to the confusion (and concerns) – there was no peer review, no independent analysis of need, no sustentative analysis of alternatives. This whole process gives a new definition to “conflict of interest.” To be fair, the town of Coulee Dam did host a joint council meeting between the two towns to define the problem and the needs, and to “tell” Elmer City what the solution was ... a meeting that was more of an “update” than a partnership/consensus-building process.

But let's put all this into some historical perspective ... back to the “Tale of Two Cities.” I used that pesky Public Records Act again (the one mayor Snow would like to see abolished) to review hundreds of pages of documents including the 1975 agreement between the two towns. Missing from the requested document stack of public records was the actual executed Agreement and a Supplemental Agreement entered into a year later. I asked the town clerk for them and was told; “Greg, that's all there is.” So I made the same request of Elmer City... they provided me with the documents. You just gotta wonder. By now you might be thinking; “Why, oh why, would anyone want to know these things anyway?!” I do. I want to know who is, and why we, are going to pay between $5 million and $7 million for a new sewer treatment plant we really don't need, can't afford to buy, and aren't required to build ... and now I know the “who is” part. If you guessed Coulee Dam, like I initially did, you only get a 75-percent grade for that answer.

Thirty-seven years ago, the two towns (Elmer City and Coulee Dam) entered into a lopsided 50-year (yup, that's 50) agreement wherein Coulee Dam can do as they wish and Elmer City apparently has no choice but to concur (at least that's what the town clerk told the council). Sort of like an Ira Levin Stepford wife! They can't even get out of the “partnership” since Article 5 reads; “this Agreement may only be terminated by mutual consent.” They became married, so to speak. Yet Coulee Dam has chosen to ignore the traditional partnership paradigm wherein “decisions” are made by cooperative involvement and consensus and compromise. Decisions made in an environment where the words like “consensus” and “compromise” are operative BEFORE the decisions, before the commitment(s).

Coulee Dam, just last month, provided Elmer City (their partner) with a copy of the $70,000 “Plan” that was completed well over a year ago! I had to get my copy from the state. Then, with equal arrogance, Coulee Dam spent another $103,000 of Elmer City money to pay for their “share” of the design engineering for a facility that really isn't necessary at all. And these costs are really only chump change... Coulee Dam has, in this year's budget, over $4 million to start building the new plant and, you guessed it, Elmer City will have to come up with about $1.6 million for their share (in total, that's about $13,000 from each home owner) ... shhhh, they don't know that yet... tell them in the morning when they wake up!

I'm embarrassed and ashamed that my town, Coulee Dam, has allowed itself to be managed by a consultant from Yakima and a town clerk from Coulee City while our arrogant mayor and some of our city council have taken advantage of having the world's largest sand pile in town ... the perfect place to validate the ostrich with its head in the sand metaphor!

Fighting for non-tribal angler rights

Have you ever received a citation from the CCT Fish and Wildlife on Lake Roosevelt? Your rights were violated. The 1994 Cassidy Decision made Lake Roosevelt and its shoreline up to the 1310 line public property. CCT Has blatantly ignored this order and cited hundreds of legal anglers.

the Department of Justice, U.S. Attorney Michael Ormsby, to intervene on our behalf and end this infringement of our rights. The legalities were settled long ago, appeals were denied, and the tribe continues to thumb its nose at (court) orders.

At some point we might need financial aid, but at this point we need voices to be heard. If you have ever been contacted by tribal authorities and feel you were being harassed or cited fraudulently, contact us at:

Facing my tech hesitation

A while ago, I wrote a column about how heartwarming it is to see children using their imagination in a world where most of their toys involve some sort of technology. When I think of the changes technology brings, I tend to focus on children because their world will undoubtedly be very different from the one that I grew up with. But lately I have been thinking about adults and my own feelings towards technology. What will the future bring for those of us who have come to expect the world in the way we know it?

I confess that I tend to be hesitant towards technological advancement. You might even say I have a love-hate relationship with it. I choose the facets of it that I love, and reject those that I find disruptive to my own little world.

The advent of computers and communication by email were fun and easy, but I was the last person I knew to get a cell phone, and only then because I found myself alone with a broken down car on a deserted highway in the middle of the night in the rain. A nightmare for a young woman, and one that would have been far less scary if I'd had a cell phone. Needless to say, I bought one the next day and have been happy with it ever since.

When smartphones and tablets entered our world, I became a little distrustful of the new technology. It took me some time to admit that I dislike them simply because I'm afraid of the changes it has brought.

Smartphones can be incredibly wonderful. In a debate, it is useful to know what Luke Skywalker's haircut really did look like providing instantaneous clarification to who's right and who's wrong. It's nice to know the score of the game or what the weather for tomorrow will be. But I find that these little devices seem to be taking something away from the conversational flow between people. Eye contact is less, attention spans seem to be shorter, and as time goes on I fear these little screens are becoming more of a reality than the people who surround us. In our quest to be connected all the time, have we instead denied ourselves the ability to be disconnected?

In Other Words

That said, I am not completely oblivious to the otherwise impossible connections this technology has brought us. Skype allows me to see my family on the other side of the country. My young daughter can get face time with family members she only sees a couple times a year. Finding a good restaurant or the nearest tourist attraction is achieved with a touch of a button. It's almost impossible to get lost when you are holding a GPS device in your hands.

When the Kindle was announced, Amazon CEO Jeff Bezos declared, “It's important to embrace new technologies instead of to fight them.” His statement made me feel a bit sheepish, as that is sometimes just how I feel. And while I initially resisted getting an e-reader, saying that I preferred the feel of a real book in my hands, once I actually got a Kindle I was delighted with the technology that gave me an endless library of books at my fingertips.

I never used to consider myself old-fashioned, and even now I bristle at being characterized as someone who doesn't like technology. I applaud what technology has done for science and medicine and even entertainment. I love the ability to have my family and friends an easy phone call away. My hesitation, like many others, is rooted in a sort of fear of the unknown. I fear that the advancements will irrevocably alter the importance of some of the things I grew up with.

I know that eventually, each new technology that comes around will at some point probably become indispensable to me like the cell phone did, and I will undoubtedly love it and wonder how I ever got on without it. Perhaps my glacial pace for accepting these seemingly radical changes to my way of life will somehow prepare me better for when I finally do jump on the technological bandwagon.

REMEMBER TO VOTE ON MAY 5, 2012 FOR COLVILLE BUSINESS COUNCIL

Paid for by the committee to re-elect Harvey Moses, Jr. for Colville Business Council, Nespelem District Position #1

PAID FOR BY THE COMMITTEE TO ELECT HARVEY MOSES JR.

Dear Nespelem District Voters:

I am seeking your vote to be reelected as your elected representative for Position #1 from the Nespelem District.

My paternal grandparents are Charlie Sr., and Katie Moses, maternal grandparents are Ed and Mary Pierre; my parents are Harvey and Ellen P. Moses. I have been married forty-three years to Cheryl (Minter), and we have four grown children and eight grandchildren.

I represent the CCT to the best of my abilities with sincerity, honesty, fairness, and concern for our whole membership. I represent the membership of the Colville Confederated Tribes, not any special interest group or individual. I am an educated Colville Business Council member, with a BA degree in Business Administration from Eastern Washington University. I am an Honorably Discharged Vietnam Veteran who served in the U.S. Army. I have ten years experience in tribal governmental operations and over twenty four years combined experience in tribal administration processes, including four years as Convalescent Center Administrator, two years experience as CTEC Comptroller and a year as Gaming Auditor.

As the voting membership, you have a right to ask questions regarding candidates views on issues important to you, you have a right to judge their character and research their background, you have a right to require education, clean and healthy lifestyle factors, integrity, transparency, and accountability - make these your prerequisites. Remember that promises candidates make can only be achieved if the majority of the Council agrees.

I thank you for your continued support and your trust in my representation.

Harvey Moses Jr.

Ronald L. “Ronnie” Teske

All are invited to a Memorial Celebration of Ronnie Teske's life to be held in Faith Community Church, 12 East Grand Avenue, Electric City, at 11 a.m., on Friday, May 4, 2012, Pastor Steve Archer will officiate.

Ronnie passed away in Spokane, on April 24, 2012, following a sudden stroke. Born July 17, 1959, to Marvin and Lillian Teske in Bismarck, N.D., Ronnie graduated from Lake Roosevelt High School. Ronnie had worked as an aide at both Sun Banks Resort and Steamboat Rock State Park, having last worked as a motel housekeeper. Always outgoing with a ready smile and a joke, Ronnie loved laughter and loved life, especially spending time with his many friends and strangers who soon became friends. Ronnie enjoyed playing cards, going places whether for drives in the car, going to the beach, walking about town, gardening or just sitting in his yard enjoying the out of doors.

Predeceased by both his parents and his brother Mike Teske; Ronnie is survived by his sister; Sheila Teske of Electric City; 2 brothers: Terry Teske of Electric City and Gordon Teske (Shelly) of Ellensburg; nieces: Kathleen Hickey of Electric City, Melissa Teske of Ellensburg, Denise Teske of Ellensburg, Dakota Teske of Spokane, and Ashley Teske of Spokane; nephews: Chad Teske of Texas, Jeremy Teske of Ellensburg, and Ryan Teske also of Ellensburg.

Strate Funeral Home of Grand Coulee, is honored to be serving Ronnie's Family.

An account has been set up for the family of Ronnie Teske at NCNB to help defray funeral expenses.

Bodybuilder takes fourth in competition

by Roger S. Lucas

Jennika Hill has turned a page in her book and is anxious to get on to the next.

Hill placed fourth in Women's Physique bodybuilding competition last Saturday at the Northern Quest theater in Airway Heights.

"Boy was I nervous," Hill stated Tuesday. But, as she says, "as soon as I started to perform everything was okay."

Hill continued, "When I walked out on the stage for my one-minute routine, a big roar went up and that helped settle me down."

— Jennika Hill

Getting ready for the performances required three coats of bronze paint and a touch up session over the 24-hour period leading up to the judges event.

Her routine this time will pretty much follow the one she just finished -- a 12-week period of eating and doing heavy lifting, then a more restricted diet and the long fine-tuning period leading up to October.

Jenn got a fine trophy for finishing fourth.

"I could see my weaker body points, like my lower back and lower abs," Hill stated. She plans on working on these this time around.

During the training period, Hill down from about 16% to 8% and that's where it was Saturday.

A pre-judging event was held in the morning, where actual placement took place. However, competitors didn't learn of how they rated until the evening "entertainment" performance.

The seven hour wait between performances, the one for the judges and the one for the paid crowd, was one of the more difficult parts of the day, Hill said. "I finally had to lie down on a bench in the casino to rest because I didn't get a room," she said.

lost 16 pounds and turned body fat into muscle. "I won't have so far to go this time," she noted.

The event featured some 240 bodybuilders. There were eight in Hill's class.

In the final days, Hill was drinking two gallons of water a day and this stopped and she gave up soda the last three days. "I got a little dizzy about this time," Jenn said.

At 5 feet 7 inches, Hill towered over her other competitors.

Summing it up, Jenn said, "It is all about routines, and that's easy for me."

School enrollment falls

April school enrollment figures show that 618.6 full time students attended the district's schools for the month; the first time this school year that the number fell below the budgeted figure of 620.

Earth Day in Electric City had some popular events

Electric City had its second annual Earth Day last Saturday.

Popular among the activities was the Brashears Belgian Horse cart rides that traveled up and down Sunny Drive for about three hours.

Electric City's Volunteer Fire Department took kids on rides and provided them with bags of goodies.

Grant County Health District gave 25 free bike helmets to kids during a bike safety program.

Promised Land Hobby and Gift Shop brought a "bummer" lamb for children to pet and bottle feed. A demonstration of how wool from sheep can be spun into yarn was held.

Several people brought recyclable objects as part of the Earth Day education effort.

In sidewalk art competition the following winners were announced:

5 years and under - McKenna Miley (1st); Austin Frederickson (2nd); and Connor Reichlin (3rd). 6 years to 9 - Hunter Moulton (1st); Ally Fredicksen (2nd); and Milayla Harris (3rd). 10 years to 15 years - Chelan Bullett (1st); Logan Braaten (2nd); and Makayla Miley (3rd). 16 years and older - Howard Bullett (1st).

Winners will receive "Coulee Bucks" that can be spent at local participating merchants and gift certificates from local firms.

School assemblies set on bullying, substance abuse

Presentations on bullying and substance abuse will be made by Gene Tagaban at area schools next week.

Tagaban is being sponsored by the Colville Indian Housing Authority's T.E.A.M. program (Together Everyone Achieves More).

Tagaban has 20 years experience as a performing artist, speaker, trainer and motivator.

He educates and entertains through a skillful blend of knowledge, humor, examples, stories, discussions and activities drawn from his Cherokee, Tlingit and Filipino heritage.

He will be at Lake Roosevelt High School, May 8, from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m.; at a combined Center School and middle school program the same day from 1:15 to 2:15 p.m., at the middle school.

Wednesday, May 9, Tagaban will be at Nespelem School from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m.; and at Paschal Sherman Indian School from 1-2 p.m.

Thursday, May 10, he will give performances at Keller School from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m., and at Inchelium School from 1-2 p.m.

Parents and the public are welcome to attend the performances.

Board agrees on school calendar

The school board, Monday night, finally agreed to next year's calendar after nearly an hour-long discussion that ended only when Superintendent Dennis Carlson recommended one of two options before the board.

The agreed-to option was the closest calendar to one adopted a couple of months ago by Nespelem School and was in concert with the district's effort to build a calendar that was as close as possible to the one from Nespelem.

Board member Ted Piccolo wanted school to begin after Labor Day and objected to the 3-day 4-day 5-day start of the school year.

He contended that the shortened weeks didn't lend themselves to a learning experience for children.

As members started picking apart the calendar, the mid-winter break nearly became a victim. The two days set aside in March match up with the State B basketball tournament in Spokane.

One member stated that Lake Roosevelt probably wouldn't be going to state this next year and if the district cut out the two days, then school would get out earlier in the spring.

The superintendent's recommendation passed but with a caveat. The board will decide its calendar in February next year so that it will be set before Nespelem decides on its calendar.

Piccolo stated that since Coulee Dam was the larger district, then Nespelem should adjust to the local calendar.

The first day of school this fall will be Aug. 28. The Christmas break will be from Dec. 20 to Jan. 3. Spring break is April 1-5 and school will get out June 12.

Timentwa selected as Gates Scholar winner for 2012

bu Rpger S. Lucas

Lake Roosevelt High School announced its 10th Gates Millennium Scholar this week.

Winning a free ride to a university of choice was Matt Timentwa, a Nespelem resident, who has attended school here since kindergarten.

Timentwa's specialty is math and science.

The Lake Roosevelt senior received news that he had won the Gates scholarship last Friday.

The scholarships are given to minority students who come from lower income families and who qualify under an extensive process. Students selected must have at least a 3.3 grade point average. Timentwa carries a 3.5 grade point average and takes a very difficult academic schedule in both science and math.

The scholarship, for four years, can be extended for graduate work, another four years, if the recipient decides to extend his academic work.

The last Gates Millennium Scholar was Amelia McClung in 2009. She is enrolled at Washington State University.

Other recent Gates scholars include Casandra Norton, 2008, who is at Eastern Washington University and Megan Francis, also in 2008, and who is at Gonzaga. Timentwa plans to attend

Tennis drops a close one

by John R. McNeil II

Raider tennis lost to Entiat last Friday at Entiat by just one match on the boys' side.

Nick Rice continues to beat Juan Vasquez 8-3. Rice was joined by Daniel Campobasso in the victor's circle after he defeated Colter Peterson 6-1.

The Raider boys dropped both of their doubles matches played by the same team of Phoenix Shephard and Hayden Rodrigues, which means that the Raiders would have to forfeit one match anyway.

Head Coach Steve Archer explains why he played the Shephard/Rodrigues team: "We have been wanting to test Phoenix and Hayden in doubles play. So we took this match as an opportunity to try it. We

Raider baseball sweeps Shockers

by John R. McNeil II

Raider baseball rebounded from a disappointing doubleheader in Liberty Bell to sweep Waterville in a convincing fashion last week.

Led by the pitching of Justus DeWinkler, who gave up only one hit while striking out eight batters, the Raiders won April 24 at Greene Field 11-0.

DeWinkler received offensive support from Lee Williams, Tyler Garvin and with his own bat. Williams went 2 for 3 with a double and three runs batted in. Garvin also hit a double along with a RBI. DeWinkler went 3 for 4 with a double and 2 RBIs.

The Shockers continued to have trouble scoring on the Raiders in the doubleheader on Saturday. Kramer Carlson pitched a complete game no hitter, striking out eight batters for the win. The only Shocker run was unearned, scored by a fielding error.

At the plate, Raider bats connected for 13 hits in the game. Kendall Piccolo, Williams, Keith Rosenbaum, and Dalton Boutain all had one hit. Trey Nicholson had two hits that turned into two runs.

DeWinkler had another three-hit game, and Carlson backed up his pitching performance with three runs batted in.

With the display at the plate and mound, the Raiders won again over Waterville 10-1.

Ladies take top honors at Mansfield

by John R. McNeil II

The Raider girls' squad won their first meet of the season last Tuesday at Mansfield, outscoring Entiat by 16 points the final team score of 144.

The Raider boys finished fifth with 35 points.

Leading the girls' squad was Kim Barry with three first-place finishes.

Two came in her long-distance races: the 800-meter run (2:47.7) and the 3200 (12:50.5). The third first-place finish for Barry came in the 400 in 65.8 seconds, beating second-place Heather Segle of Entiat by 5 seconds.

Katelynn Schilling racked up her first meet win in the shot put at Mansfield, throwing 30 feet 5.5 inches, beating second place Yvonne Kilgour of Bridgeport by 13 inches. Schilling also placed for the first time in the discus, finishing second with a throw of 83-9. The winner was Yumiko Sanford of Entiat with a throw of 93-4. For the first time this season, Schilling ran the 200 at Mansfield, finishing fourth in 31.6 seconds.

Mary Ann Matheson won the 1600 for the first time this season

"Our athletes continued to improve their runs, throws and jumps. I was particularly impressed with how hard our athletes competed. They were definitely not afraid to leave it all on the track."

— Coach Lori Adkins

in 7:13.8, beating Lisa Hartvig of Oroville by 7 seconds.

The girls ran the 4X100 meter relay for the first time at Mansfield, placing third with the time of 62.5, just 0.3 seconds behind second-place Oroville.

On the boys' side, Sean Waters contributed 14 points for the team with a second in the discus (112-7) and third in the shot (36-11).

Nick Gleason led the Raiders, scoring 18 points with a first-place finish in the 200 (26.26) and a second in the 100 with the time of 12.17 seconds.

Octavio Alejandro scored the other three points for the Raider boys with a seventh in the discus with a PR throw of 89-2. Alejandro also took eighth in the shot with a PR 33-2.5. Alejandro did not place in the javelin but did throw a 13-foot PR with his heave of 95-10.

The Raiders then travelled on Friday to Peshastin for the John Rieke Invitational where the Raider girls placed fourth with 128 points, beating the nearest 2B participant by 60.

Schilling rode her momentum from Tuesday by throwing for a 13-inch PR in the shot. Schilling's

Lady Raiders continue losing streak

by John R. McNeil II

The Lady Raiders came off a week where they were outscored by the Pateros Nannies 83-4 in three games. The bats were more active last week but the Liberty Bell Mountain Lions still racked up 67 runs to the ladies' 13. In the first game on Tuesday, the Lady Raiders were plagued with errors that lead to several easy runs for the Mountain Lions. The final score was LB 28, LR 6. In the doubleheader at Liberty Bell, the Lady Raiders could not put together a solid defense as the Mountain Lions put up 22 runs in the first game and 17 in the second. At the plate, the Mountain Lions quieted the Lady Raiders in the second game allowing LR to score only one run.

With only three wins under their belt, the Lady Raiders prospects at getting into Districts look slim to none. The Lady Raiders played ACH Tuesday in a doubleheader. They will play season-ending series with Oroville next week with intensity and strength.

In the last game of the season series, DeWinkler again took to the mound, striking out 10 while giving up zero hits.

DeWinkler's hitting streak also continued, as he went 2 for 2, scoring a triple and home run for three RBIs.

Brady Black contributed two runs. Tim Loch, Boutain, and Carlson all had one RBI.

"We have been focusing primarily on being able to play small ball and making sure that we are having productive at-bats, whether we are getting on or not," Head Coach Brandon Byers said. "We are really going to continue working on the small parts of the game and trying to get our entire squad healthy again prior to districts."

Byers noted that the Raiders are in an interesting position atop the Central Washington 2B League.

"Currently, we are in a three-way tie for first with Brewster and Liberty Bell with each team having three games left," he said.

The Raiders took the series from Brewster two games to one, while Liberty Bell has the tiebreaker over the Raiders by the same count. This means the Raiders need to sweep or win the season series with Oroville this week to stay on top.

The Raiders played ACH at home last night in a doubleheader.

placed only in the discus where his throw of 116 ft 5 inches took home seventh. When asked about the performance of the Raiders over the last week, Head Coach Lori Adkins stated "Our athletes continued to improve their runs, throws and jumps. I was particularly impressed with how hard our athletes competed. They were definitely not afraid to leave it all on the track."

Zachary Erickson is a long-distance runner who has made great strides this season with his times and competitiveness. An example is the 1600; at West Valley over 6 weeks ago, Erickson ran 7 minutes 52 seconds to finish 78th. At Peshastin, Erickson ran his 1600 in 6:00.05 and finished 17th, an improvement of nearly 2 minutes.

The Raiders enter this last week of regular season meets confident in success. They travelled to Bridgeport last night where they took on a field containing almost the entire CWL along with Okanagan, Omak, and Tonasket. On Friday, the Raiders will travel to Liberty Bell for their Invite which will feature the CWL 2B along with Mansfield and Wilson Creek to wrap up the regular season. The meet will start at 4 p.m. for both track and field events.

Grand Coulee Project Hydroelectric Authority Project No. 14329-000

NOTICE OF PRELIMINARY PERMIT APPLICATION ACCEPTED FOR FILING
AND SOLICITING COMMENTS, MOTIONS TO INTERVENE, AND COMPET-
ING APPLICATIONS

(April 11, 2012)

On December 1, 2011, the Grand Coulee Project Hydroelectric Authority filed an application for a preliminary permit, pursuant to section 4(f) of the Federal Power Act (FPA), proposing to study the feasibility of the Banks Lake Pumped Storage Project (Banks Lake Project or project) to be located on Banks Lake and Franklin D. Roosevelt Lake (Roosevelt Lake), near the town of Grand Coulee, Douglas and Grant Counties, Washington. The project would be located on federal lands administered by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation (Reclamation) and the U.S. Bureau of Land Management (BLM). The sole purpose of a preliminary permit, if issued, is to grant the permit holder priority to file a license application during the permit term. A preliminary permit does not authorize the permit holder to perform any land-disturbing activities or otherwise enter upon lands or waters owned by others without the owners' express permission.

The proposed project has two alternatives:

Alternative 1

The proposed project would use Reclamation's existing Banks Lake as the upper reservoir and Roosevelt Lake as the lower reservoir. The proposed project would consist of the following new facilities: (1) an upper reservoir inlet/outlet structure equipped with trash racks; (2) a 1.5-mile-long penstock consisting of a vertical shaft, power tunnel segments, and a tailrace section, extending between the upper reservoir inlet/outlet and the reversible turbine/generator units in the powerhouse; (3) an underground powerhouse containing four reversible turbine/generator units rated for 250 megawatts (MW) each, for a total installed generation of 1,000 MW, or a powerhouse located on the shore of Roosevelt Lake, also containing four 250-MW reversible turbine/generator units; (4) a 2-mile-long, 500-kilovolt (kV) transmission line extending from the project powerhouse to an existing 500-kV substation; and (5) appurtenant facilities. The estimated annual generation of Alternative 1 for the Banks Lake Project would be 2,263 gigawatt-hours (GWh).

Alternative 2

The proposed project would use Reclamation's existing Banks Lake as the lower reservoir. The proposed project would consist of the following new facilities: (1) a new 312-acre upper reservoir constructed approximately 3,000 feet west of the existing Banks Lake, impounded by three earth and rockfill embankments, each with a crest elevation of 2,300 feet above mean sea level; (2) an upper reservoir inlet/outlet structure equipped with trash racks; (3) a 620-foot-long, 43-foot-diameter vertical shaft connecting the upper reservoir inlet/outlet structure to the power tunnels; (4) four 1,700-foot-long, 17-foot-diameter power tunnels leading from the vertical shaft to the powerhouse; (5) an underground powerhouse containing four reversible turbine/generator units rated for 260 MW each, for a total installed generation of 1,040 MW; (6) a 25-foot-diameter tailrace tunnel between the powerhouse and the existing Banks Lake; (7) a 2.4-mile-long, 500-kV transmission line extending from the project powerhouse to a new 500-kV substation; and (8) appurtenant facilities. The estimated annual generation of Alternative 2 for the Banks Lake Project would be 2,978 GWh.

Grand Coulee Project Hydroelectric Authority Project No. 14372-000

NOTICE OF PRELIMINARY PERMIT APPLICATION ACCEPTED FOR FILING
AND SOLICITING COMMENTS, MOTIONS TO INTERVENE, AND COMPET-
ING APPLICATIONS

(April 11, 2012)

On March 13, 2012, Grand Coulee Project Hydroelectric Authority filed an application for a preliminary permit, pursuant to section 4(f) of the Federal Power Act (FPA), proposing to study the feasibility of the Rocky Coulee Wasteway Hydroelectric Project (project) to be located on the Rocky Coulee Wasteway near Moses Lake in Grant County, Washington. The sole purpose of a preliminary permit, if issued, is to grant the permit holder priority to file a license application during the permit term. A preliminary permit does not authorize the permit holder to perform any land-disturbing activities or otherwise enter upon lands or waters owned by others without the owners' express permission.

The proposed project would consist of two developments, the Upper Chute and the Lower Chute.

Upper Chute Development

The Upper Chute development is below the headworks of the wasteway and would consist of the following: (1) a concrete intake diversion canal leading to an intake gate structure; (2) a 10-foot-diameter steel penstock extending approximately 1,450 feet from the intake structure to a powerhouse; (3) a powerhouse with one generating unit rated at 5.2 megawatts (MW) at 80 feet of average head, discharging directly back to the wasteway; (4) a 13-kilovolt (kV), 2,000-foot-long transmission line extending from the powerhouse to a transmission line owned by the Public Utility District of Grant County (Grant PUD) (the point of interconnection); and (5) appurtenant facilities.

Lower Chute Development

The Lower Chute development is at mile 3.8 of the wasteway and would consist of the following: (1) a concrete intake diversion canal leading to an intake gate structure; (2) a 10-foot-diameter steel penstock extending approximately 750 feet from the intake structure to a powerhouse; (3) a powerhouse with one generating unit rated at 6.8 MW at 105 feet of average head, discharging directly back to the wasteway; (4) a 13.8-kV, 800-foot-long transmission line extending from the powerhouse to a transmission line owned by Grant PUD (the point of interconnection); and (5) appurtenant facilities. The estimated annual generation of both developments would be 16,900 megawatt-hours.

Coulee Cops

Compiled from police files

Grand Coulee

4/24 - Two residents living on Kelso in Electric City asked police to ban two brothers from crossing their properties. One woman told police that her children had found several drug needles in and around the property and then gave the items to the police. The two boys were banned from being on the properties.

- Police found the door to a vacant office space in a Burdin Boulevard building open. The officer contacted the owner and the door was closed and locked.

- A Coulee City woman was cited for driving while her license was suspended and when the officer came up to the vehicle the woman opened the door and a bag with green leafy material was seen inside. The officer asked if the material was hers and she replied "Oh, I forgot about that." She was cited for driving while her license was suspended and for possession of marijuana. The car was towed.

- A driver was cited for not having insurance after an officer observed that he was drifting over the fog line on numerous occasions. He told police that the car had a high idle and that he had to use the brakes to keep it within the speed limit.

- Plant Protection advised police that some juveniles were up at the canal and that one had gone around the fence. The boy told the officer that his line was snagged and he went around the fence to get it loose. The officer explained the dangers of the canal area and the youth left.

4/25 - A woman was told by phone that she had won a $3 million lottery and that she should send $485 and give her 3-digit code for her debit card and her checking account number. She refused to provide what the caller asked for.

- A Coulee Dam man was arrested and taken to Grant County jail after he allegedly brandished a gun and waved it at some people.

- Police assisted the ambulance crew in getting a person on Palmer Street in Electric City into the ambulance and to Coulee Medical Center.

- A man walking on Palmer Street in Electric City tried to hide from an officer who eventually found him in a storage shed. The man had a Department of Corrections detainer. It was checked and then the man was taken to Grant County jail.

4/26 - A local businessman told police that he had received a threatening phone call from a man who stated that he knew where he lived and was going to get him. The man was advised that he needed to get an anti-harassment court order.

- The owner of a drinking establishment in Electric City told police that someone had come in and tried to use a credit card which was denied and charged $55.50 on a tab and hadn't returned to pay it.

4/27 - An official from Birds Auto told police that the gate to their impound lot was open and entry was gained by cutting a chain with bolt cutters. A local towing firm had a Chevy Blazer in the impound yard and it was gone. Police were told three people came to Tim's Towing to try to get the vehicle but it wouldn't be released because the registered owner was not present. One of the three said they would get the car one way or another.

- A person living on Jackson in Electric City reported that someone had tried to take some items from his neighbor's storage area. The owner of the items and neighbor showed the officer three radiators stacked up over the fence and a wheelbarrow. The officer said he knew someone who had been seen with the wheelbarrow and is investigating. The owner of the radiators put them back in storage.

Coulee Dam

4/24 - A man was arrested for violating a no contact order by the courts. He was riding in the front seat beside the person who got the order.

4/25 - An officer walked "Bell" a lost dog home to its owner. The woman thanked the officer and then was told to keep the animal restrained.

- A man on Fir Street was served papers terminating a protection order he had received earlier.

- A driver from Usk was stopped for going 46 mph in a 35 mph zone near River Drive. When running a check on the man, it was learned that he had two warrants out for him for not paying traffic fines. He also was given a field test for sobriety and found to have a high degree of alcohol in his system. His auto was towed and the man was put in custody of a Tribal Police officer.

4/26 - A woman was stopped for not having her headlights on after dark and the officer found that she had a suspended license and no insurance. A passenger next to her was found to have a warrant out for her arrest and was taken to Grant County jail. A second passenger who had a valid drivers license was allowed to take charge of the vehicle.

4/27 - A 16-year-old was found smoking and told the officer that he had found the cigarette and another person gave him a light. The officer had the youth put the cigarette out and gave him a warning.

Thanks

The family of Rickey Lynn Louie- Burris would like to thank all the people who had came together to help our girl move along in her journey to be with her ancestors.

We would like to thank the Thomas family and Linda Simpson for doing the cooking, you guys did an outstanding job as usual, the high school for the shirts and sweaters and Jolene and Joyce for the lapel pins; this was totally unexpected but awesome. The grave diggers, Kim Stanger for the slide show.

We would like to thank the Veterans for the speeches, hopefully the younger generation listened and learned something, Seaton's Grove Greenhouse, all the flowers were beautiful.

We would also like to thank the parks and rec officers and law enforcement who had helped with the escort, also like to thank Lisa and Suzette Seymour for the shirts they had made; would like to thank John Gorr for the burning of the pictures and Frankie for the honorary dance he did, we know it was tough and yet you did it with perfect poise.

Our apologies if we forgot anybody, thank you all.

Words cannot describe the love we had felt from all who had paid their respects to Rickey, it is pretty easy to see that she had touched so many lives and in so many ways. Rickey had a smile that was so infectious that you couldn't help but smile back at her, and know that everything was going to be alright.

Thank you.

The family of Rickey Lynn Louie-Burris

“40 miles per gallon!²
We can save so much money.
And it's way more spacious than I thought it would be.”

Mee-Lin Demaree, Nissan owner

“EcoBoost[®] does what it's supposed to do. You get 22 miles per gallon.³ That's better than my Chevy. And the F-150 just seems tougher.”

Mike Pennisi, Chevy owner

“The big-screen nav⁴ is easy
