SERVING THE GRAND COULEE DAM AREA, WASHINGTON STATE

FEBRUARY 19, 2014

Moose Lodge 504 and Bob Valen honored for year

by Roger S. Lucas and Scott Hunter

The chamber of commerce named two of its own to awards last Thursday night as the "Achiever of the Year," and "Business of the Year."

The awards are made by the vote of members of the Grand Coulee Dam Area Chamber of Commerce.

Named "Achiever of the Year" was Bob Valen, the chamber's own vice president and a retired National Park Service employee. Valen served over 35 years with the NPS, and in retirement has been as busy as ever.

He also now serves as chairman of the Coulee Area Park & Recreation District.

Named as "Business of the Year" was Moose Lodge 504.

In introducing that selection, Electric City Mayor Jerry Sands said he was proud to be a member of the lodge and told of the variety of things it does.

"First," he said, "the lodge has completely re-done its interior, making it more comfortable for its membership."

The inside has been redecorated, with paint, lighting, high-back lounge chairs so members can sit together and visit, and two fireplaces to help create an atmosphere of home. The Moose Lodge received its charter in 1937, and has nearly 350 members.

The Moose Lodge works with local food banks, gives scholarships to graduating seniors at Lake Roosevelt High School, and other local activities.

Work has been done on membership, and the activity calendar is filling up.

The Moose this past year started a "Queen of Hearts" game in which people add money to a pot and can turn up a card. If it is the Queen of Hearts, they get to claim the pot. Half goes to the Moose Lodge and the other half goes to the winner.

The game recently went for $18,000. The Moose got half of the proceeds to benefit its charities.

Sands said the "Queen of Hearts" fund is up to $4,000 since the big pot was awarded.

The Moose Lodge managers are Renee and Bill McCarty.

"It's been real pleasure working with people that recognize our mission and want to be a part of it," Renee McCarty said.

The primary mission of The Moose, she said, is maintaining a boarding school in Chicago called Moose Heart from which students graduate with a high school education and a skill.

In accepting the "Achiever" award, Valen started by saying, "I don't know what to say." Then he went on, "I enjoy what I do because I have no direct supervision," something he appreciates after a career with the federal government.

Valen is president-elect of the Rotary Club, writes a monthly weather column for The Star newspaper, drives cars to auction for both Choice Auto and Jess Ford, and generally tries to involve himself in activities that he feels benefit the community, including work on multiple chamber committees.

As the new chair of the parks and recreation district, Valen has his eyes on such activities as a fly-in to the Electric City airport, kayak and biking events.

Mayor, officer spar over report in news

by Roger S. Lucas

Grand Coulee Mayor Chris Christopherson got another grilling from police officer Sean Cook Tuesday night after information in the city's "Key report" was published in The Star newspaper, Feb. 12.

Cook had confronted the mayor at the city's previous council meeting, Feb. 4, concerning a number of concerns he had raised earlier and the lack of responses he had received.

Tuesday night Cook was told he had five minutes to express his views. When he was told his time was up, he protested that the allotted time had not expired. Christopherson gave him two minutes more.

The mayor and officer Cook and their families had been friends for a number of years, and the confrontation over Cook's concerns not being addressed appeared uncomfortable for both.

This time Cook asked who had given the report to The Star newspaper. The mayor responded, telling Cook that if he had any evidence of who gave the report to the newspaper he should say so.

Cook then asked Christopherson when he had found out that parts of the report were made public, saying that whoever released it had broken the law. Christopherson said he was informed by the city clerk on Tuesday, Feb. 18, that the report had been published.

Cook objected to a juvenile being identified in the report and the fact that he suffered from post traumatic stress disorder. The Key report, developed nearly a year ago by Alan Key, an investigator for the city's risk management firm, had a very limited distribution: to officials in the police department, to the mayor and to members of the city council.

Christopherson said he hadn't discussed the report with The Star's reporter when the two got together for a meeting on Sunday, Feb. 9.

Christopherson did at that time say that the report was "flawed" and that the city's attorney called it a "bad report."

The Sunday night meeting lasted over an hour, and Mayor Christopherson noted that the report stated that he had overstepped his grounds as mayor.

The Star received the report the next day.

The mayor had stated earlier that the "report was the report" and that the city needed to move forward. Christopherson said that he wasn't going to ask for another report even though he had told Cook that he would try to get "errors" in the report changed.

The mayor had stated two weeks ago that "no one is going to lose their jobs over this report."

Cook Tuesday night brought up something that happened in 2008. That brought a response from Councilmember David Tylor: "What can we do about something that happened that long ago?"

Cook replied, "I am worried about 2014, there's a pattern here."

Civil service commission coming

Coulee Dam Mayor Greg Wilder wants to name a three-member civil service commission to start the process of helping to select a police officer to fill a vacancy that now exists on the town's police force. The town council OK'd his request.

Meeting cancelled

The Feb. 26 Town Council Meeting for Coulee Dam is cancelled, according to Town Clerk Stefani Bowden.

Town discussing trees

by Roger S. Lucas

Trees.

That's what dominated talk among town council members last Wednesday night.

First, it was a move by the town's public works department to call for bids on someone to clear branches that have grown too close to power lines.

Public works director Barry Peacock said the town does this every four years.

It prompted town councilmember Bob Poch to say, "The two places people plant trees is over sewer lines or under power lines."

The limb trimming advertisement for bids will go out soon.

Then Mayor Gregory Wilder asked the council for authority to make a change to the town ordinance in regard to the "tree board." The so-called tree board is established by a natural and historical resources ordinance and consists of six members.

Wilder said it apparently was too difficult to get six people to be active about trees and wanted to cut it down to fewer members. He said that the committee hasn't been active in recent years. Two people in the audience volunteered to serve on it.

Then Councilmember Gayle Swagerty said she would like to see the town become active again in the "Tree City USA" program. Coulee Dam was declared a "Tree City" during the four-year stretch, 2002-2005.

She explained that there wasn't much the town had to do to qualify, and that it wouldn't be a budget issue. She stated that she would like to see the town promote Arbor Day on April 9, and suggested planting little leaf linden trees.

Poch said he had one that someone could have. It was pointed out that the bees loved the trees, but someone explained that they liked the top of the trees so they wouldn't be a problem. Many communities plant these trees because they grow fast.

The council discussed the health and life of trees on town right-of-ways, with more discussion to come.

Firefighters schooled on legality of fires

by Roger S. Lucas

Electric City firefighters had a sensitivity training session last Wednesday night at the firehall.

It all came about because of Fire Chief Mark Payne's issue with illegal burning on two separate occasions recently.

Mayor Jerry Sands made the announcement at a city council meeting Tuesday night and stated that firefighters were going to hear about what is a legal fire and an illegal fire.

When asked if he was going to put a letter of reprimand in Chief Payne's file, the mayor said "yes" but didn't elaborate.

Payne had been turned in for burning illegal materials at his residence on two different occasions and pleaded in a meeting with the mayor and others that he didn't know he couldn't do so.

City hall had been the recipient of several calls about the fires and the mayor also received a couple of complaint calls while he was in Nevada.

A handout at the city council meeting explained what a recreational fire was and how it was regulated by Department of Ecology rules.

Payne had claimed his fires were "recreational" in nature.

"We're going to get everyone on the same page and have a training session on fires," Sands told the council.

Saturday school offered for suspended students

by Roger S. Lucas

Suspended students in the Grand Coulee Dam School District will soon be able to work off one day of their suspension by attending a special Saturday school.

The district's board of directors approved the plan at a recent meeting and the Saturday school is now in effect.

Superintendent Dennis Carlson said Tuesday that it will take an effort by both the student and his parents to make the Saturday school work.

Say a student receives a three-day suspension, and the parents and students want to take advantage of the special school time to get the student back into regular school a day earlier; then the parents must agree to get the student to Saturday school and be available to pick the student up if he or she doesn't obey the rules and also be available to pick their student up at the end of the three-hour school period.

The student will be responsible for working with his or her teachers to get assignments to work on.

Class will last from 9 a.m. to noon, and there will be at least two school employees there — a teacher and paraprofessional.

Students attending Saturday school are not allowed to talk, sleep, drink, exchange personal notes or engage in any otherwise inappropriate behavior while in detention. The students can not visit their lockers during the period nor use cell phones. A five-minute break will be allowed for a restroom break, according to the rules.

The "Code of Conduct" also includes a dress code.

The Saturday program forces both the student and parents to deal with whatever issue caused the suspension in the first place, and involves all three of the district's schools.

The Saturday school hasn't had any students to date.

Corridor kiosk site sought in Electric City

by Roger S. Lucas

Electric City could land one of a handful of kiosks being planned along the Coulee Corridor.

The "corridor" covers the area between Othello and Omak and is recognized nationally for the many unusual landscape features along the route.

Birdie Hensley, who has been active in the Coulee Corridor organization from its inception, appeared before the Electric City Council a week ago to ask if the city was interested in getting one of the informational kiosks.

She explained to city officials that it is desirable that the kiosks be located on public land and that visitors have easy access to the kiosks.

She stated that the cost to the city would be about $3,000, and suggested if the city was interested that it could use hotel/motel tax monies, since the kiosks are designed for tourist information.

Hensley stated that additional kiosks could also be located in the area.

Coulee Corridor would provide the information elements for the kiosks. Hensley stated that Coulee Corridor is ready to start locating the kiosks this year.

One site that had been mentioned for a kiosk location in Electric City is the space near the bus stop near city hall. The city owns that property.

The council didn't immediately make a decision on the kiosk question.

City will expand pipeline for future

by Roger S. Lucas

With eyes on the future, the Electric City Council voted last week to move ahead with a 10-inch pipeline for the proposed Sunbanks Lake Resort water project.

It will cost the city between $18,000 and $20,000 to expand the size of the pipeline from one that is 8 inches in diameter to a 10-inch pipe, but the move will put the city in a good position to deal with anticipated future housing expansion on the south side of Osborn Bay.

The 10-inch line will go some 1,700 feet from the old vacated western store on highway 155 to the entrance to Sunbanks Lake Resort, where it will be capped. Sunbanks will tap onto the line with a 6-inch line to serve the park.

The problem the city has is how to get water to future development on the other side of the causeway.

Recently the city tested Port District wells to see if existing wells could service the future addition of homes near the golf course. When that was a bust, the city tested some residential wells in the area but found that the arsenic content was far too high.

That prompted Mayor Jerry Sands to appear at last month's Port District meeting to see if commissioners would agree to let the city drill a well on its property to see if the city could find a water source that would serve development.

While Port District commissioners didn't say no, they didn't agree to the idea either.

Sands' report to the council wasn't too encouraging, and the idea of putting the 10-inch line across the causeway might end up being the city's best bet in providing water to future residences.

The city has had discussions with officials on putting the line across the causeway, but it is trying to find a way to avoid the cost.

"If we spend money to fix the water problem, future developers will pay for the cost," Sands stated to the council.

Tribal program has new director

Randall Friedlander, a tribal member, was recently hired as the Colville Tribes' Fish and Wildlife (CTFW) director.

Friedlander will provide strategic planning and management oversight of 130 employees with an operating budget of over $20 million, a department press release said.

Friedlander served as the interim Fish and Wildlife director for approximately a year. Prior to that, he worked for the department as the wildlife program manager for three years where he provided oversight and direction to about 20 staff members.

"I look forward to maintaining and protecting our Fish and Wildlife resources and habitats, while meeting the cultural, subsistence, recreational and economic needs of the Tribe," Friedlander said. Friedlander will work closely with Fish and Wildlife managers, policy analysts, and scientists on complex projects in various locations throughout the reservation. He will also serve as a key liaison with outside agencies, interacting with state, federal and tribal entities, as well as with other organizations.

Friedlander has worked for the Colville Tribe since 1995. He earned a bachelor of science degree in natural resource management from Washington State University (WSU) and studied forest management for two years at Humboldt State University prior to transferring to WSU.

He enjoys golfing, basketball, hunting, fishing, snowboarding and participating in cultural activities. He and his wife Julie have three children — Kylie, Mikel and Will.

Tribal burn bans imposed for air quality

by Roger S. Lucas

The Colville Confederated Tribes have issued seven burn bans from November, 2013, through January of this year, officials said this week.

Currently, no burn bans are in effect on the Colville Reservation.

The report issued by Kathy Moses, of the Mount Tollman Fire Center, stated that the tribes' Air Quality Program and the federal Environmental Protection Agency closely monitor air quality on the reservation and in part of Okanogan County.

When issued, tribal burn bans include part of Okanogan County.

The tribes have sent out public notices to all Colville tribal enterprises that when a burn ban is issued, it applies to all outdoor and agricultural burning, including camping, recreational fires and burn barrels.

The burning of garbage, treated lumber, particleboard, painted wood and cardboard is not legal at any time, the report stated.

There are no restrictions on wood stoves, fireplace, ceremonial and traditional fires.

The tribes' burn bans this winter were imposed based on an extended Air Stagnation Advisory issued by the National Weather Service, dense fog and increased readings from the Omak air monitor.

Air pollution episodes can have significant health impacts, the report stated. Those most at risk are children, elders, pregnant women and people with respiratory, cardiac or pulmonary diseases.

District sets fees for park use

by Scott Hunter

Large groups wanting to use North Dam Park will be charged according to a new fee schedule approved recently by the Coulee Area Park and Recreation District Commission.

Individual users and small family groups will not be charged, but organizations planning to dominate one or more areas of the park will.

Arranged by area and length of time, a fee schedule grid lays out fees that range from $150 for a full day of using the picnic shelter and lawn area to $10 for use of an "Electric Plug-In."

A refundable damage deposit of $200 will also be collected before activities begin.

The fee schedule, which will be published in full at the bottom of this story online, was passed by district commissioners Feb. 10.

CMC board should reassess its position on hospital administration

I know most people are aware I have been a strong advocate to remove the administration from CMC.

I have yet to see any action taken towards this, and in all fairness I realize the board must make sure all the i's are dotted and t's are crossed.

So now the rumor around the community is the board has made an agreement to work with administration and attempt to correct all the negativity. My concern is for the employees of CMC, not the board or administration. The atmosphere is darkened in the work environment, and I personally feel that no how, no way can this change with the current situation. I commend the board for taking this stance but you are not there during the day to see the reactions and actions of administration.

The employees cannot afford to quit and go elsewhere. They own homes, want to live in a small community and raise children, etc.

Why is it that one individual can ruin an entire working environment and be proud of all the negatives he has doled out along with the staff that abide by the rulings? I am so saddened this has gone on this long and the dark cloud that hangs over the employees on a daily basis. Regardless, if they aren't being let go now, believe me, with the same administration in place it will happen again. They do not forget!

Staff has been told that should the doctors not sign contracts, etc., they can find another place for employment. Are we that arrogant to think we can get doctors full time at CMC who will live in the community? I think not. So please take some time and reassess the community's needs and concerns. Make the right decisions for everyone and let's go forward.

Glad reason prevails on marijuana use

I am glad to live in a community where we can put to rest the myth that smoking marijuana is a fringe activity engaged in only by those on the margins of American society.

In reality, marijuana smoking is extremely common, and marijuana is the recreational drug of choice for tens of millions of mainstream, middle-class Americans. Many successful people including business, professional and political leaders admit they have used marijuana.

With the recent changes in our state marijuana legislation, we can finally stop acting as if otherwise law-abiding marijuana smokers are part of the crime problem. They are not, and it would be absurd to continue to spend law enforcement resources arresting them.

Marijuana smokers in this country are no different from their nonsmoking peers, except for their marijuana use. Like most Americans, they are responsible citizens who work hard, raise families, contribute to their communities and want a safe, crime-free neighborhood in which to live.

The voice of reason prevails ... Gone are the days when time and money will be wasted seeking out, arresting and jailing individuals who choose to use marijuana.

Inslee should explain support of illegal students

I'm writing this letter in reply to an article in the Grant County Journal dated Monday, January 27, 2014, on page 3 with the heading of "Inslee's" and under the heading of financial aid.

Inslee wants lawmakers to approve a plan that would expand state financial aid to students who are living in the county illegally.

Just in case Inslee doesn't know or doesn't care to know what illegal means, the following is what a dictionary had to say: Prohibited by law, not legal, unauthorized and unlawful!

Charity begins at home, which to all legal residents is America or the good old U.S.A.!

If our governor wants to help the illegals why not start within our prisons as they all did something illegal; but most are Americans and an education could make them a better American citizen.

I would sure like to know what Mr. Inslee had in mind to come up with such an idea, when we have a lot of American students that could use some help to pay for their college education.

In the last two weeks I have talked to quite a few Americans about this subject of help for the illegal students and not one of them thought it was a good thing to do.

Yes, I am a U.S. Navy veteran and I'm proud that I was able to serve my country of America. But I never ever thought we would support illegal students over our own American students.

Mr. Governor Jay Inslee I believe you owe an explanation to all of the Washington state citizens as to why you support the illegals.

Board member's comments usurp council authority

This is direct reference to the Butch Stanger letter of 2-12-2014. I was surprised that he found it necessary to answer my initial letter to the editor. Not only was my letter to Colville Tribal Council, but also, he usurps council authority through his bullying tactics AND circumvents council in projecting and over-stepping his own limited Board of Directors/CTFC authority.

Further, Mr. Stanger accused me/my info as false. Sorry sir, my info and input came directly from then-in-office council, Tribal Tribune council resolution reports and then 'just out' Annual Report of CTFC authored by Joe Pakootas. Additionally, as I just said, Mr. Stanger in fact over-stepped his authority as he usurped that of Colville Tribal Council by circumventing council parameters responsibility and council duty wise.

Further, I adamantly (state) his tactics here are the rule rather than the exception as he regularly oversteps his "advisory" capacity as a member of Board of Directors/CTFC.

It is my inalienable right as a Colville Tribal member to not only question Council action but also complain against their direction and day-to-day actions. Along this line of thinking, how does he get off telling, instructing me where to go, what to do and/or apply for position as CTFC/Board of Directors? To me, all of this is none of his business.

In closing, it was not about his selection as Board of Directors/CTFC, but all the crap going down.

Winter Olympics: Heartbreaks, heros and their stories

Have you been watching the winter games in Russia? We have, on and off, and something has changed for me.

In the past I would be cheering for the USA all the way and be disappointed if we did not get some hardware. I also did not care for all the junk in-between the events. I just wanted to see the flips, falls and finishes in all the events. But something different has happened to me over the past 10 years of watching, not just the Olympics, but all sports. I love the stories behind the athletes.

As I watched a Canadian skier win the gold medal in one of his events this past week, emotions rose in me. As he celebrated with his team and family, I became a fan of his, not as an athlete, but as a human being on earth.

A few moments before he took to the ski hill they ran a 10-minute little story of his life, like they do for most of the athletes. His story was not anything special except for his brother. His older brother has a disease that has made him physically limited. He cannot do very much on his own but as his Olympic brother told us, his mind is fully intact and he is more competitive than the Olympian. In fact, he said that if his brother could be an athlete the ill brother would have more wins than the athlete.

Now, I cannot tell you the whole story as well as NBC did, but this I can tell you: When the brother climbed down from the podium after listening to his country's anthem and receiving his gold medal and went straight to his disabled brother and placed the gold around his neck ... well, I lost it. I became a fan. End of story.

There was also a female downhill skier, from Austria, I think, who had an unusual helmet. Hers was decorated with a cheetah pattern. Her story was that she had a dream to go to Africa, and she did not long ago. When she got there she heard about the cheetah. She heard about its loss of habitat and she fell in love with the cat. She now uses her soap box of skiing to fight for the life of the big cat she loves. She has donated and done fund raisers and is trying to grow some kind of awareness to save the cheetah in another country, not her own. She won the gold. I'm a fan.

There was also the ex-Korean speed skater, now a Russian. No longer wanted on his home country's team (too old and injury prone) he became a Russian and won gold for them, beating the ones supposed to be younger and stronger.

There was the American hockey star who won the match against Russia with his shots at the end of the game. But I was moved more by his interview afterward in which he thanked his dad for making him shoot shot after shot on the cold ice lake near his home where he grew up.

There was heartbreak too in these events, there always is. A lifetime of work and dedication to make it to this one symbolic event called the Olympics, only to fall just short or have your worst day ever. Lots and lots of those stories, some covered very well and some just a blink on the score sheets, but all just as painful.

That is how our life is too, not just sports, but our everyday life. Some of us work so hard to try and achieve our goals to just fall short, just out of our grasps. We fail on small stages and the grandest of shows. Some of us succeed just as big but the reality is that more of us fail in reaching our full potential.

Just like the athletes, though, we should get up, dust off the snow, lick our wounds and look down the road. There is always next year. There are always the next Olympics. There is always tomorrow. We learn from our mistakes and we try again and again and again. Guess what. Even if we continue to fail, our family still thinks we are winners, our causes still think we are heros and someone else will need us more. We are all winners whether there is a gold medallion around our neck or not.

Jess,
shut up!

Free tax help at the senior center

Income tax time is here! Free tax preparation is being offered at the Grand Coulee Senior Center again this year. Volunteers trained in cooperation with IRS and AARP will be available every Tuesday, Feb 11 - April 8, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

New this year: some volunteers have been certified to assist taxpayers with health savings accounts.

This service is available to anyone with low or middle income. You do not have to be seniors or members of the senior center to take advantage of this free help. However, special attention is given to those 60 or older. Free e-filing is also available.

Taxpayers need to bring: A copy of last year's tax return, social security cards, or other official documentation showing social security numbers, for themselves and all dependants. It is VERY important to bring social security cards for dependants to make sure the correct number is entered on the tax form. Also, bring proof of salary, interest, pensions, social security or any other sources of income.

For a faster refund, bring a sample check so your refund can be directly deposited to your bank account.

Jury's out - until Thursday

Planet Earth Players cast members rehearse Monday for their upcoming production of Twelve Angry Jurors, which begins Thursday at the Grand Gallery of Arts Theatre on Grand Coulee's Main Street for a three-night run. Ted Piccolo, lower right, plays the part of the juror who keeps the guilty-of-murder verdict from being unanimous, setting up an examination of society's assumptions and prejudices inherent in the justice system. Joanne Graham plays a juror ready to vote guilty and go home. — Scott Hunter photo

Aluminum cans only

The seniors accept aluminum cans ONLY. Please do not put cardboard, plastic bottles or other aluminum in the collection sacks.

In 2013, the Seniors collected 3800 pounds (almost 2 tons) of cans and took in approximately $1500 for the Senior Center. That is approximately 30 cans for everyone in the Grand Coulee Dam area. The program helps keep the doors open at the seniors and keeps the cans out of the landfills. Please do not put other material in with the cans because we have to dispose of it and that raises the already high garbage bill and cuts down on the profit.

12th District residents invited to telephone town-hall meeting Feb. 25

OLYMPIA...The three lawmakers serving Washington's 12th Legislative District — Rep. Cary Condotta, Rep. Brad Hawkins and Sen. Linda Evans Parlette — are inviting residents to join them for a telephone town-hall meeting starting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 25.

Many across the district will receive phone calls just before the meeting begins, inviting them to stay on the line; those wishing to call in directly should dial 877-229-8493 (toll free) and press 112411 when asked.

"In a legislative district as large as ours, and knowing how unpredictable the winter weather can be, meeting by telephone while we're in session at the Capitol is convenient and practical," said Parlette, R-Wenatchee. "This is a great way to bring thousands of people together to discuss how decisions being considered in Olympia affect our part of the state, and Washington as a whole."

"I enjoy every opportunity I have to touch base with the people I represent, and this is just another way I can hear from them about their priorities, concerns and questions," said Hawkins, R-East Wenatchee. "I look forward to the conversation and hope a lot of people will participate."

"We are in the final few weeks of the legislative session, but there are still many important issues being debated," said Condotta, R-East Wenatchee. "This is a great opportunity for folks to weigh in. And this technology allows a large group of people to participate and to ask questions right from their own home."

The Legislature's regular session for 2014 is limited to 60 days and will end March 13.

Five Raiders heading to state wrestling

by John R. McNeil II

Raider wrestling travelled to Kittitas on Valentine's Day and came home Saturday Night with two Eastern Washington B Regional champions and five moving on to the 26th annual Mat Classic at the Tacoma Dome this weekend.

"We had another good tournament," Head Coach Steve Hood commented on the regional tourney.

Lake Roosevelt finished sixth overall in team standings with 105 points, only seven points out of third place.

James Monaghan won second place in the 120-pound category. His opponent in the championship match, Trent Skelton, had placed second as a freshman and was state champ last year. LR coaches Hood and Largent said Skelton has lots of skills and "is not a slouch." Monaghan looks to improve on his state performance from last year and place.

Zack Erickson took on Skelton right from the get go, but Skelton took Erickson by surprise and won. Largent said Erickson's second match, against Houlihan of Reardan, was his best match of the season. Erickson did not qualify for state and will look forward to next year and another chance.

Coltin Williams bounced back from an earlier loss to get into the 3rd-4th match against his first opponent, Anderson of Reardan. Anderson got his revenge by defeating Williams. Williams took fourth at 126 and moves on to state for the first time since 2012.

Oscar Pakootas lost his second match to Kaleb Hafner, who Coach Hood said "would manage to use his strength to stop from laying flat on his back." Pakootas rebounded and went on to take third at 132. Pakootas took third at 120 at last year's Mat Classic and would like to do better this year.

Kodie Horn dominated the 145 bracket, pinning all comers in the first round to become the Eastern Washington B Regional champ.

Octavio Alejandre at 285 was just as dominant, pinning all his opponents in the first round to also take home a regional championship. "Both were ready to wrestle, and it showed" Hood said.

The number one wrestlers from the Western Washington regional managed the same feat as Horn and Alejandre, which sets up a great showdown in the Tacoma Dome this weekend.

Teddy Sharr and Jesse Louie both wrestled hard but ran out of moves. Neither advanced to the Mat Classic. For Sharr this was a successful senior season, finishing with a regional tournament experience. Louie could return next season and would have the experience to help him over the hump to state.

Tomorrow the Raiders will be leaving for the Tacoma Dome for the 26th Mat Classic, the largest high school wrestling state tournament in the nation. The tournament starts on Friday at 10 a.m. with the first rounds. Action continues on Saturday starting again at 10 a.m.

120-Zack Erickson lost to Trent Skelton of Liberty Bell by pin 15 seconds; lost to Conner Houlihan of Reardan by pin, 4:15.

120-James Monaghan def. Duwayne McGruder of Kittitas 8-3; pinned Jordan Smith of Oroville in 5:01; lost to Trent Skelton of Liberty Bell by tech fall 17-2.

126-Coltin Williams def. Justis Anderson of Reardan 8-6; pinned by Kain Feltwell of Liberty-Spangle in 3:03; def. Danny Humiston of Liberty Bell 15-1; lost to Justis Anderson of Reardan 16-9.

132-Oscar Pakootas pinned Colton Kuykendall of Reardan in 2:57; lost to Kaleb Hafner of Liberty-Spangle 2-1; pinned Kaleb Marten of Liberty Bell in 2:08; def. Mitch Barney of Colfax 4-2.

145-Kodie Horn pinned Johan Hernandez of Pateros in 1:29; pinned Jacob McMillan of Liberty Bell in 1:26; pinned Reggie Jones of Colfax in 1:23.

145-Jesse Louie lost to Tyler Weimerskirch of ACH 7-6; lost to Johan Hernandez of Pateros 11-3.

182-Teddy Sharr lost to Jake Harrington of Liberty-Spangle 11-5; lost to Tristan Barnett of Tri Cities Prep 6-3.

285-Octavio Alejandre pinned Salvatore Esquivel of White Swan in 1:12; pinned Layne Hawks of Lind-Ritzville/Sprague in 25 seconds; pinned Mark Dituri of Mary Walker-Springdale in 1:26.

Raiders end regular season with winning record

Head to playoffs tonight

by John R. McNeil II

Following two successive wins in the last week of their regular season, the Raiders will head to the district playoffs tonight with solid win-loss record improved over last season's.

The Raiders ended the regular season on a two-game win streak to improve their record to 11-9 overall and 6-5 in league play.

With a four-game improvement over last season's 7-13 record, the LR team will play in Wenatchee in a loser-out game at 4 p.m.

"We are excited about our improvement from last year and making the playoffs, and knowing we could really make a strong run if we peak at the right time," Head Coach Matt Simpson said.

The Raiders started the week with a 54-40 win over the lowly Hornets in Oroville Feb. 11.

Oroville came out fighting in the first half and grabbed a lead.

"We were down at half, but made some simple adjustments ... and came out and made a big run to take and sustain the lead,"

Simpson said.

His adjustments worked. The Raiders defeated the Hornets and secured the number-two spot from the north in the district tournament.

When asked about the regular season finale, Simpson said the team needed to improve on rebounding and free-throw shooting.

"Those have been a struggle for us this year as we're not overly tall," he said, "so we need to use our strength and quickness to get both offensive and defensive rebounds."

And on free throws: "We have to knock those down in tight games to maintain or increase a lead or to stay close in the game."

With no seniors on the team, the "senior night" recognition before the game against Bridgeport Friday focused on cheerleaders Mikel Friedlander, Brandin Smith and Managers Kayla Donley, Akaycia Foster, and Brandon Powell.

Against Bridgeport on Valentine's Day, the Raiders jumped out quick to take an 18-6 lead at the end of the first quarter. The electric Raider offense continued to gain another 21 points in the second quarter while holding the Mustangs to eight.

Bridgeport's Coach Dan Ca-

vadini appeared livid with his team's flat performance.

At the end of the first half, Raider Chance Garvin hit a three, which was answered by a Mustang who hit a buzzer beater from NBA distance for a score of Raiders 39, Mustangs 14.

In the third quarter the Raiders let down their playing intensity and focus. The Mustangs outscored them 14-11, rebounding for second chances. At the end of three the Raiders led 50-28.

The Raiders pushed the lead back out to 31 points in the fourth, outscoring the Mustangs 16-9 to come away with a season-ending win, 66-37.

Chance Garvin and Jacob Palmer both played excellent games against the Mustangs and were essential to the big win.

Tonight (Wednesday, Feb. 19) the Raiders return to the district tournament after a year's absence. Tip off is at 4 p.m. at Wenatchee High School. LR takes on the winner of last night's Riverside Christian-Bridgeport game.

After this loser-out game the winner advances to Saturday's game against the loser of the District 5-6 championship game. If LR advances to Saturday's game, tip off would be at 11 a.m. at Wenatchee High School against either Liberty Bell or Kittitas for the last spot to regionals.

Lady Raiders end season 10-9 overall

by John R. McNeil II

The Lady Raiders finished the regular season with a Valentine's Day win over the Fillies of Bridgeport following a loss in Oroville Feb. 11.

Lake Roosevelt finished with a 10-9 overall win-loss record, 8-3 in league.

Against Oroville the Lady Raiders got off to a bad start, falling behind by as much as 22 points.

"We could not buy a basket in the first half," Head Coach Wallace Pleasants said. "It took us two and a half quarters to gain our composure and come back into the game."

The 44-34 loss kept the Lady Raiders from being the number-one seed from the North in the district tournament.

Lachelle Bearcub picked up another double-double, scoring 16 points and grabbing 13 rebounds. Riley Epperson was the team's number-two scorer at Oroville with 10 points.

The Lady Raiders did not hang their heads long, as they defeated the Fillies 39-34 on a Valentine's Day Senior Night.

Keya FastHorse could not play, but was honored in front of a large crowd at Gailord Nelson Gym. FastHorse was the only senior on either the girls' or boys' squads for LR.

Bridgeport came out fast, scoring the first baskets of the game.

Bearcub led the Ladies back into the game, scoring 12 of the Lady Raiders' 19 first-quarter points. In the second quarter, both offenses slowed, with LR scoring only six points, all of them Bearcub's. The defense stiffened and allowed Bridgeport only four for the quarter and ending the first half with an LR lead, 25-14.

Bearcub scored 18 of LR's first-half points.

In the third quarter both offenses came alive again with the Fillies outscoring the Lady Raiders 11-10. LR held on to the lead for a 10-point margin at the end of the third, 35-25. But in the fourth, several mishaps on defense and cold streaks on offense allowed Bridgeport to make a comeback. Lake Roosevelt also got into foul trouble.

The Fillies had narrowed it to a one-point contest when the Lady Raiders made two key shots and pulled the game out of the fire. The final was LR 39, Bridgeport 34.

"We are still working on playing a complete game," Pleasants commented, adding that he hopes to "be able to maintain the lead all the way to the end."

He said he was proud of the girls' fourth-quarter play as they "got composure and finished the game."

Tonight (Wednesday, Feb. 19) the Lady Raiders will play at Wenatchee High School against the winner of last night's Bridgeport/Kittitas game. Tipoff is at 5:30 p.m.

"We got to play smart for the whole game to have a shot at winning," Pleasants said.

The Lady Raiders must win that game to move on Saturday against the loser of the District 5-6 Championship to have a shot at moving on to the regional tournament. The game on Saturday against either Oroville or White Swan would tip off at 1 p.m. at Wenatchee High School.

Personal

Now I want people to know what really happened in my life. First of all, everybody thinks that I just walked out on my wife of 41 years.

Wrong. The people that lived close to me have no idea what's going on in my life with my wife. She was forgetting things and believed that I was doing things to her, so I talked to some people about this and thought she had the beginning of Alzheimer's. For three years I was coping with this and her son told her that I was taking her pain pills and selling at the casino in Coulee Dam.

So on the 13th of December 2012, she called me on this and I said I would not do this. So she called her other kids and they believed her and that maybe she should not trust me and I should be put out. So that's what happened.

Then when I tried to get my things and tools from my shop, the police were called and showed up at my house in Electric City in 10 minutes and said that she told them I was going to hurt her.

So she let me in about three months after I had left and, to my surprise, most of my tools were gone and she said that I got them. Not true. I can't prove it but I feel that some of the people that lived close to her have them. So when I asked my granddaughter's husband for my stereo back he brought it back to where I lived and left me a nasty note that I'm the scum of the world and not to ever leave a letter at his mom's place or I will pay the price. The stereo was left under the eve so water ran all over it, so it is junk.

If I'm such a bad person as to do what they said I did, first of all, they forget all the time that I helped them out and fix their lawnmowers, weed eaters and chainsaws and never charged them. I thought I was being a good person.

If I'm such a bad person and sell drugs, why am I still doing small engine repairs and pruning? And the ones that have bad thoughts of me you know who you are and you have to look in the mirror every morning. So that's the truth as I can see it. Also I have people that will back me up on all that I said.

Mr. E.

Coulee Cops

Compiled from police files

Grand Coulee Police

2/10 - A woman's car slid off the road on SR-174 near the Crown Point exit. Jack's towing removed the car and there were no injuries.

2/11 - A man who owns a home on 3rd Street NE in Electric City told police that a neighbor informed him that someone had driven up close to his garage. Since the man was away at the time, he asked police to look into the matter. Two boats the man had in his garage hadn't been touched.

2/12 - A car that had been parked for a long time on Alcan Road and that had considerable damage was towed and impounded.

2/13 - Police checking on a report of a suspicious vehicle found a man with his vehicle jacked up who said he thought he had a loose wheel. He was told not to leave the vehicle overnight and later was seen driving the vehicle away.

- Police warned two people who were out on Banks Lake ice near the buoy line at the feeder canal and close to open water that the Bureau was going to start their pumps and they were in a dangerous area. The two left.

- A Burdin Boulevard resident who was towing a trailer without lights was told by police that he wasn't to move the trailer until it had proper lights, the tires were fixed and it was registered.

2/14 - An officer stopped a vehicle on SR-155 after noticing that two individuals didn't have their seatbelts on. He found that both parties inside the vehicle had been drinking and the driver stated that he had gone to the Banks Lake Pub in Electric City to get his female passenger and they had all be drinking. The officer report stated that the matter was being referred to the state Liquor Control Board for review.

- An Electric City woman reported that her father, who also lives in Electric City, had a window broken in his garage and thought it might have been shot out. The officer found that a window was broken but no evidence what caused it.

- A woman living on Van Tyne called police to report that her son was damaging her house and that he had made threats against himself and her. Police found the young man naked in the kitchen and considerable damage to the premises. Police found he was wanted on a warrant, arrested him and took him to Grant County Jail. The mother requested a no-contact order be filed because she was afraid of her safety.

2/15 - USBR Plant Protection told police that a man was walking up by Riley Point yelling so loud they could hear him at the guard post on top of the dam. Police confronted the man who, the report stated, was highly intoxicated. He said he was yelling at his girlfriend on his cell phone asking for a ride. Later police were informed a ride was on the way.

- A man who lives on Continental Heights told police that a dog had bared its teeth and made threatening motions. Police found the dog and advised its owner that the dog needed to be inside and not loose. They said if such an incident occurred again the owner would be cited.

- A man near Lincoln and Electric Boulevard in Electric City told police that two loose dogs growled at him when he went outside. The officer was unable to find the dogs.

2/16 - A woman told police that someone had hit her vehicle and then left the scene. Police could tell the woman had been drinking and after she agreed to a portable breathalyzer test she was warned that if she drove she would be arrested. She called for someone to pick her up. Police sought identity of the vehicle that hit her car and was told the color by the bartender at the Wolf's Den Bar, but couldn't locate it.

- Plant Protection advised police that someone had disregarded a closed sign on Marina Way. Police found the vehicle and the occupants stated that they used to fish the area. They were told the area was closed after dark, and they left.

Coulee Dam Police

2/12 - Security cameras at Coulee Dam Casino helped identify a car prowler whom police later caught as he was putting groceries in his car after shopping nearby. The driver agreed to allow his vehicle to be searched, and the officer found a smoking pipe and a baggie of green material that tested out as marijuana. The report was sent to Colville Tribal Police for action.

2/13 - A driver was stopped after an officer saw that he did not fully stop at a stop sign at Crest Drive and River Drive. The driver told the officer, according to the report, "You know that I do not have a driver's license." The driver was advised that he was going to be cited and then he accused the officer of being a "racist." Then the driver said he didn't care if his license was suspended that he was going to drive anyhow. He was cited by mail since the officer's computer in the patrol car wasn't working properly.

- A person called police to report a car was blocking the driveway of their residence on Civic Way. The person after learning who owned the car said a phone call would be made to the owner asking them to move it.
